

WAGE ACT ADVANCES . . .

Ombudsman Bill Gets Initial Okay

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Monday gave its initial floor approval to a bill which would establish an ombudsman for state government.

Sen. Loran Schmit's proposal, LB521, gained 23-8 general floor endorsement.

Also clearing its first floor hurdle was an amended bill which would remove a number of exemptions from the state's minimum wage act, and establish a minimum salary of 75 cents an hour for waitresses, hotel bellmen and others paid primarily by tips.

That measure, LB1049, authored by Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha and broadened through amendments proposed by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, survived a kill motion and was advanced on a 22-4 count.

Sen. Henry Pedersen's effort to ax the bill failed on a 9-19 vote.

Receive Complaints

The ombudsman bill provides for creation of an office of public counsel to receive complaints from citizens relating to administrative actions of state government. Schmit envisions the ombudsman as "a traffic cop for state government," helping citizens find information and resolve their difficulties with government.

"He would not be a public defender," Schmit told his colleagues. "He is a man to seek the truth for the citizen."

Swedish Innovation
The office is patterned after a Swedish governmental innovation of 1809. Schmit said Hawaii is the only state with a similar operation.

The ombudsman would be appointed by the Legislature for a six-year term and salaried at the same scale as the chief justice of the State Supreme Court, currently $20,500 a year.

Schmit estimated that the operation would cost about $35,000 a year.

Carpenter and Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove questioned the need for such an office.

"Is it just to take the heat off the backs of state senators?" Kennedy asked.

'Give It a Whirl'
But a number of lawmakers spoke in support of the idea. "Let's give it a whirl," Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha said.

LB1049 would amend the minimum wage act to remove the present exemptions for domestic employees in private homes, salesmen on commission, persons receiving governmental assistance or welfare payments, and high school or grade school students, except for babysitters.

Those persons removed from the current exemptions would thus be entitled to the present state minimum wage of $1 an hour.

Not Covered

Waitresses, hotel bellmen, employed shoeshine boys and others paid primarily by tips would be entitled to a minimum payment of 75 cents an hour. They currently are not covered by the minimum wage act.

Mahoney said some hotel employees in Omaha are now salaried at 60 cents an hour.

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha argued that the bill further restricts the operation of free enterprise, and would lead to greater unemployment.

Pedersen, who urged the Legislature to kill the bill, said it would deny jobs to some people who could not be employed at the minimum wage rate.

Newark Tense; Negro Policeman Kills Negro Youth

Newark, N.J. (P) — Scattered violence broke out Monday night after a Negro youth was shot and killed by a Negro policeman.

Some instances of looting were reported, and an atmosphere of tension pervaded the predominantly Negro area less than a mile from the center of racial rioting that took 26 lives in July, 1967.

Seventy-five to 100 workers of the city antipoverty agency went into the troubled area urging calm and telling residents the policeman who fired the fatal shot had been suspended.

"It was a black cop who shot a black boy," said the Rev. Levin B. West, the Negro president of the antipoverty agency. "That's what we've been telling the people."

Supreme Court Backs Away From Strong Jury Trial Rule

Washington (P) — The Supreme Court backtracked Monday on its recent expansion of the right of citizens to be tried by juries when accused of "serious crimes."

A 5-3 ruling in a seemingly routine case evoked gloomy warnings from Chief Justice Earl Warren and the court's senior associate justices, Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas.

The ruling approved a three-year probation sentence given an Oklahoma man in a federal securities case.

Oppression Feared

Broadly, Warren said, it stands "as an open suggestion to the courts to utilize oppressive practices."

The case involves Ben H. Frank of Tulsa, who was sentenced to probation in 1966 for criminal contempt. Frank, now 78, had been accused of violating a government order against interstate sales of oil securities. He asked for a jury trial but was turned down and was tried by a judge.

Only three years ago the court held sentences exceeding six months for criminal contempt may not be imposed by federal courts without a jury trial or a waiver of the right to it.

Hearing Slated On Plan To Bus Kindergartners

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Parents of children in Maude Rousseau School will be given a hearing and use of temporary, mobile classrooms will be considered by the Lincoln Board of Education before a decision is reached on handling students until the school's addition is completed.

Board members Monday night deferred action on Supt.

John Prasech's recommendation that kindergartners be transported to Bryan School as an interim arrangement and that overcrowded classes be staffed with extra personnel.

Some 25 persons appeared at the board meeting to protest the proposed action and to offer numerous alternatives.

The addition of a media center, six classrooms and two classroom-size workrooms is expected to be ready for bidding in about three weeks with construction starting a month later. Completion is slated by second semester next year.

Prasech agreed to present information about the proposal and alternatives at a meeting of Rousseau parents at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the school.

Board members indicated that a decision on interim arrangements would be made at its meeting at 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Parents addressing the board generally emphasized that their children should not be penalized for "planning mistakes" made in the past.

While some indicated that they would not be opposed to busing kindergartners, it was pointed out that the proposal would only free one room at Rousseau to relieve overcrowding. Busing students in other grades was advocated, if necessary, to make more rooms available.

Several speakers called for the use of mobile, temporary classrooms for the semester of construction.

Prasech said he was not recommending the use of such annexes because the buildings are "very minimal under the best of circumstances and are very expensive. They become substitutes for good long-range building plans."

He declared that it would be "difficult for a public body to create temporary classrooms at Rousseau when there are empty rooms elsewhere in the district."

One parent called for doubling the planned addition or start planning a second addition, saying he calculates the school will be full by the fall of 1970. The superintendent indicated that with a slight boundary change the expanded school should be adequate for the area without additional space.

6 Lincoln Teachers Call Meeting To Discuss Alternatives To LEA

A meeting for "dissatisfied, disenchanted, concerned" members of the Lincoln Education Association has been called by six Lincoln teachers to discuss alternatives to the LEA that might lead to the formation of a teachers' union here.

The meeting, scheduled at Millard Lefler Junior High 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, will provide discussion time about the LEA and "assess the consensus of the group" for a course of action, according to the meeting announcement.

The six teachers, describing themselves as "disenchanted with LEA" and feeling "there must be something better" have discussed alternatives to LEA including the American Federation of Teachers, an

Apollo Astronauts Clown For Camera

... SHIP PASSES HALFWAY MARK

Space Center, Houston (P) — With the moon a growing, glowing smile in space ahead, Apollo 10 flashed past the halfway mark of its perilous lunar voyage Monday and streaked flawlessly on.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan, after a relaxed day of television clowning, star navigation and enjoying the view, started their second nine-hour of space slumber Monday night.

As they retired, their spacecraft was hurtling outward at 3,049 miles an hour. They were almost 150,000 miles from home.

Mission controllers assured the crew earlier that their sleep would not be disturbed by the dull thumps of rocket thrusters firing, a noise which aroused them several times Sunday night.

The rockets were being fired automatically to keep the spacecraft spinning slowly as it sped through space. The spin evenly distributes the heat of direct sunlight on the spaceship.

Flight controllers instructed the crew to increase the spin, called by space pilots "the barbecue mode", from one revolution an hour to three revolutions an hour.

Officials said Apollo 10 was "right in the groove" on its flight to the moon and no further mid-course corrections may be required. A small correction was performed Monday.

Even after two days of watching their home planet, bright against the black of space, the astronauts seemed awed by the sight.

They shared their spectacular view with the rest of mankind, beaming to the world the third live color television picture of the shrinking earth far behind them.

"It looks beautiful going away and it'll look even better coming back," said Stafford.

"Looking down from this distance you could never tell anybody could inhabit the place."

"I'm voting for the world being round if there are any dissenters," said Cernan. Then he added: "You know it's a beautiful sight. We're sitting here and it's almost like science fiction looking back at it."

Earlier, the astronauts reported they saw the moon for the first time since launch. "As the earth gets smaller, it's sure nice to be able to see where you're going," said Cernan.

The Apollo 10 crew started their second day in space gripping about too much chlorine in their drinking water.

"The water is absolutely horrible," Stafford told the ground controllers just after he was awakened late Monday morning. "I got a horrible slug of chlorine. My mouth is still burning. John did too."

Council Seated

The three new city councilmen elected in the general election were sworn in as members of the council in ceremonies Monday. For stories on this and other council action, see Pages 16 and 17.

10 Tries Fail To Take Peak

Saigon (P) — American planes and artillery pounded North Vietnamese positions atop Dong Ap Bia Mountain near the Laotian border Monday, as U.S. paratroopers rested after 10 futile attempts in nine days to storm the 3,000-foot peak.

Air Force B-52 bombers blasted enemy troops, bunkers and gun batteries near the mountain in an apparent attempt to cut off reinforcements for the North Vietnamese still holding the peak overlooking the A Shau Valley.

American commanders believe that a steady flow of men and supplies is being funneled to the mountain defenders.

One Of Toughest

The fight, in which 335 North Vietnamese and 37 U.S. troops have been reported killed and 220 Americans wounded, has developed into one of the longest, toughest campaigns of recent months.

Troops of the 101st Airborne Division have made 10 separate assaults against the enemy's terraced fighting positions.

Three times they reached the top, only to be hurled back by a stream of small-arms fire and rocket-propelled grenades.

"This is my third war and I haven't bumped into a fight like this since World War II," said Col. Joseph Conmy Jr., Washington, D.C., who commands the division's 3rd Brigade. "This crowd must have gotten the word from Uncle Ho."

Ho 79 Monday

North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, observed his 79th birthday Monday while an estimated two battalions of his troops continued to hold Dong Ap Bia.

Associated Press correspondent Jay Sharbutt reported from the 3rd Brigade's forward headquarters that 10 North Vietnamese were killed and 11 Americans wounded Monday in scattered clashes around the base of the mountain.

While American fighter-bombers launched repeated strikes against the mountain with bombs and napalm, artillery pounded the slopes from a series of mountain bases on the eastern, or opposite, side of the A Shau Valley.

Officers Puzzled

American officers believe the mountain is the site of a North Vietnamese regimental headquarters, a major supply dump, or both. They are puzzled about why the enemy is defending it so doggedly.

"I really don't know," Conmy said. "Their normal pattern has been to defend a position for three or four days and then pull out. They aren't doing that here. So I think it has to be a very important headquarters element they are defending."

Maj. Gen. Melvin Zais, commander of the 101st Airborne Division, said he doubted the North Vietnamese were trying to hold Dong Ap Bia for the publicity, but believes it is more likely that "they have something there they want to keep."

Washington — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird called on North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to promptly release all American war prisoners in their hands. Laird said he was "distressed" by evidence that countered North Vietnamese claims that American prisoners are receiving humane treatment.

Thieu Said To Differ

Saigon — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu is said to differ with some points in the Nixon administration's program for settling the Vietnam war. Despite a public posture of agreement, Thieu appears to have doubts about the American view on an interim coalition government and the question of special elections.

Czech, Soviet Units Maneuver

Prague — Amid warnings of "anti-Sovietism" in the country by Czech Premier Oldrich Cernik, Czechoslovak and Soviet army units started maneuvers at an unknown site on Czech soil. The Czech defense ministry described the maneuvers as "command staff exercises," involving staff and troops.

Kennedy For Space Slowdown

Worcester, Mass. — In the presence of an astronaut and rocket expert, Sen. Edward

M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called for a slow down in the space program so that funds could be used for "pressing problems" on earth. Kennedy chose the unlikely platform of the dedication of Clark University's futuristic Goddard Library, named after a physicist who pioneered in rocket development. (More on Page 19.)

Military Influence Decried

Washington — Sen. J. W. Fulbright told students of the National War College that the military policy had acquired "inordinate" influence, resulting in the subversion of the nation's democratic values.

Copter Contract Canceled

Washington — Because of "default" by Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the Army has terminated the production contract for a new helicopter gunship. (More on Page 2.)

Math Teacher Arrested

New York — A 23-year-old mathematics teacher was arrested and charged with helping to plan a riotous disruption by black students in Morris High School last April 24.

Marijuana Conviction Overturned

Washington — Key provisions of the federal antimarijuana laws were made unenforceable by a Supreme Court decision which reversed the 1966 marijuana conviction of Dr. Timothy F. Leary, the hallucinogenic drug enthusiast. (More on Page 2.)

Grad Student Draft Delayed

Washington — A spokesman for the Scientific Manpower Commission reported that the number of graduate students whose draft inductions are being postponed until the end of the school year is between 16,000 and 25,000. Such a postponement was made possible since October under a regulation issued by Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

$875 Million Contract Canceled

Washington (AP) — The Army declared Monday that Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has defaulted on an agreement to build an advanced helicopter gunship and canceled a production contract worth up to $875 million.

The cancellation dashes all hopes of the Army to introduce a new armed helicopter in Vietnam for the foreseeable future.

Lockheed chairman Daniel J. Haughton, in Burbank, Calif., promptly denounced the cancellation as "not justified." We will take appropriate legal action to protect our financial position on the contract.

The action involves the AH56A Cheyenne armed helicopter, a highly advanced 250-mile-an-hour rotor craft. Lockheed had contracted to build 375 models.

The Army had warned Lockheed, which also builds the controversial C5A transport, April 10 that its performance under the helicopter agreement was not meeting original specifications.

Lockheed has built 10 prototype versions of the Cheyenne. One crashed earlier this year, pointing out some serious flaws, the Army said.

After receiving the April 10 "cure notice" Lockheed sent to the Pentagon some recommended changes which Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor said in effect Monday have been rejected.

Resor said the decision to declare a default was based on the Army's conclusion that any aircraft delivered as specified under the contracted schedule "would fail to meet performance specifications in several significant respects."

"In particular, problems of rotor stability and control, for which the contractor has developed no adequate solution, have significantly limited the safe speed and maneuverability of the aircraft," Resor said.

Haughton confirmed that Lockheed submitted a detailed plan to solve what he called "certain developmental problems," but he described these problems as "normal and to be expected."

Lockheed still has a research and development contract for perfecting a new armed helicopter but the Pentagon also placed this in jeopardy Monday.

Resor said Lockheed may be issued a "cure notice" — which demands that shortcomings be remedied — on the research and development contract involving well over $105 million.

TIMOTHY LEARY

July Draft Call Lowest Of Year

Washington (AP) — The Pentagon called Monday for the drafting of 22,300 men in July for the Army.

It will be the lowest draft call this year, down from June's 25,900 and the 1968 high of 33,700 in February.

State Quota 175

Nebraska's July draft call is 175 men, a spokesman for the State Selective Service office said Monday.

The July call is the lowest this year and compares with the year's high of 291 men for the April call. June's draft call for the state was 203.

Supreme Court Overturns Leary Marijuana Conviction

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court, operating with eight justices and an empty chair, overturned Monday the federal marijuana conviction of Dr. Timothy Leary, the controversial exponent of LSD and other hallucinatory drugs.

The unanimous decision may compel the government to ask Congress for new legislation to prosecute marijuana possession cases.

Leary, former Harvard University psychology instructor, was found guilty in Laredo, Tex., of transporting illegally imported marijuana and of failing to pay a special tax of $100 an ounce for it.

On Both Counts

The court — on its first decision day since the resignation of Abe Fortas — hit the verdict against Leary on both counts.

The opinion by Justice John M. Harlan struck down the provision of the narcotics importation law which makes mere possession presumptive evidence that the marijuana was illegally imported and the possessor knew it.

Harlan also upheld Leary's claim that by registering and paying the tax, Leary would have been incriminating himself in violation of his 5th Amendment rights.

Federal narcotics agents have relied heavily on the statute making possession of untaxed narcotics a federal offense in their prosecution of drug peddlers.

Extension

Last session, the court barred federal prosecutions under registration tax laws if the defendants claimed possible self-incrimination.

In setting aside Leary's conviction, Harlan commented, "We are constrained to add that nothing in what we hold today implies any constitutional disability in Congress to deal with the marijuana traffic by other means."

The 47-year-old "high priest" of the LSD movement was sentenced to 30 years in prison and fined $40,000 at his 1966 trial.

The Leary decision does not affect state laws outlawing use, possession and sale of marijuana.

The court also: —Ruled 6-2 that the U.S. government is not liable for damages to private property occupied by federal troops during a peacetime riot. The case stemmed from the 1964 anti-American riots in the Panama Canal Zone.

—Declined to review a Florida case aimed at testing whether convicts must be provided legal help and other constitutional rights at parole revocation proceedings.

—Let stand a lower court ruling by the Minnesota Supreme Court that insurance companies need not pay $1 million in life insurance to St. Paul attorney T. Eugene Thompson, who was found guilty of slaying his wife.

—Refused to interfere with a California Supreme Court ruling which threw out the conviction of a "topless" dancer and her night club manager on charges of indecent exposure and lewd and dissolute conduct. The California Supreme Court upheld the argument of the dancer, Kelley Isler, and Albert J. Giannini of San Pablo that her performance was protected as freedom of expression.

Plans For Pacific Meeting Expected

© New York Times Service

Washington — The White House is expected to announce plans Tuesday for an early meeting in the Pacific between President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

The indications were that the two leaders would meet sometime after President Thieu pays a state visit to South Korea this weekend.

Guard Seals Off Berkeley Campus

By The Associated Press

National Guardsmen sealed off the campus of the University of California at Berkeley Monday night after sheriff's deputies used tear gas to clear demonstrators from the center of the campus.

Earlier in the day about 1,500 demonstrators were prevented from holding a rally, then tried to shut down nearby stores. About half a dozen were clubbed by police and five were arrested.

At Stanford University, police dispersed about 200 demonstrators protesting war-related research at the university's Research Institute. Half a dozen persons were arrested but no injuries were reported.

At City College of New York group discussions and workshops replaced formal classes as negotiations resumed between the school administration and Negro and Puerto Rican student militants.

On the New York high school scene a teacher, a teacher's aide and two teenagers were arrested on the basis of indictments connected with the fire bombing last month of the auditorium of Morris High School in the Bronx.

At the Santa Cruz campus, about 400 persons marched in support of Berkeley activists but no violence was reported. At Livermore, Calif., a man exploring abandoned mine shafts Sunday found 186 sticks of dynamite on property owned by the university's Lawrence Radiation Laboratories. Police said the explosives, minus detonating caps, had been hidden recently.

At CCNY, the first of two days of workshops and discussion groups was instituted instead of regular classroom schedules. Meanwhile, the acting president, Joseph J. Copeland, resumed negotiations with Negro and Puerto Rican student representatives.

Discussions centered on demands of the dissidents for enlarged minority enrollment and a separate school of black and Puerto Rican studies.

At Morris High School, those arrested in connection with the fire bombing April 24, were, according to Bronx Dist. Atty. Burton Roberts, members of the Afro-American Culture Club at the school.

Church Urged To Take Active Role In Politics

... Tiemann Says Clergy Untapped Source Of Talent

Fremont (P) — Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Monday urged a church convention in Fremont "to recognize the need for ministers to be in active politics" and said he saw no reason why ministers should not campaign for public office.

"Personally, I see no breach of the separation of church and state in this matter," Tiemann said, "nor do I see this as being an affront to anyone."

Addressing the Nebraska convention of the Lutheran Church of America, Tiemann used as an example his appointment to the legislature this year of minister-teacher Wayne Schreurs of Seward. "He has proven to be an

GOV. TIEMANN effective and good legislator," Tiemann said. "Functional Interaction" Tiemann said there was need for an institutional separation of church and state, but said that did not prohibit "a functional interaction" between the two.

"What affects people must be the concern of the church, even to the point of speaking to and working with the state," Tiemann said. "The church cannot remain 'politically neutral.'"

"As a matter of fact, those individuals in government, I am certain, would welcome the assistance and aid that the church could render as we work in partnership together."

He called the church "a vast, untapped source of talent and ability" for political parties which "have not taken advantage of the clergy in their deliberations and in the setting of party policies."

"Must Be Partners" "It is time that the private community, namely the church, stopped delegating to the public community, the state, the role of leadership," Tiemann said. "We can and must be partners together."

He noted the financial and leadership resources of the church, and urged "active involvement" in more social concerns.

"Being leaders in the communities, particularly our smaller communities, means that active involvement should be the goal of all our clergy," he said.

MRS. CATHERINE ANGLE

East Student Trip Winner

Larry Day, a student at East High School, has been awarded an all-expense paid trip to Germany for a month this summer from the American Teachers of German organization.

Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Day, won the trip in competition based on test scores with other German students in the Dakotas, Kansas and Nebraska.

With 47 other U.S. students, Day will attend three weeks of classes in Nuremberg and travel in Berlin and other parts of West Germany for a week. They will stay with families or in dormitory housing and youth hostels.

Professor Named

Washington (UPI) — Cornell University Professor George H. Hildebrand was named as head of international operations for the Labor Department, a post newly created by President Nixon.

Mrs. Angle Elected President Of School Board

Mrs. Catherine Angle Monday was elected president of the Lincoln Board of Education.

Don Biehn was chosen vice president at the board's annual organizational meeting.

Mrs. Angle, who served as vice president last year, succeeds Dr. John Lux.

Supt. John Prasch was elected executive secretary. Robert Magee and Robert Wekesser, recently re-elected to the board, took their seats for four-year terms.

Separate Board

In its first action the new board created a separate board for the Area Vocational Technical School No. 5 of the Lincoln school district. The board of education and its officers will comprise the new board with all operational and personnel policies, rules and regulations of the school district apply to the vocational technical school.

The action will provide for operation of the vocational technical school on a separate budget and tax levy as part of its revenue.

In a brief meeting following the school board session, board members designated the assistant superintendent for post high school programs as the director of the school.

School departments will serve the needs of the vocational school on a pro-rata cost basis, it was decided.

Award Contracts

Board members awarded the general construction contract for a gymnasium-cafeteria building at Huntington School to Anderson Construction Co. of Lincoln.

Accepting a number of alternates, the total contract amounted to $145,440.

The mechanical contract was awarded to Wentz Plumbing and Heating for $44,444 plus alternates; the electrical contract went to OK Electric for $16,500 and food service to Pegler for $12,401.

The total contract price of $224,742 was about 8% over the estimated cost Prasch reported.

In other business a board members approved salary increases of $49,600 for clerical employees of the district. The motion, passed 5-1, also called for preparation of a new type of salary schedule by next year. Opposing the motion, Biehn contended the study should be conducted before any raises are granted.

Boosted 6.9%

The wage increase for secretaries and other clerical employees is about 6.9% over last year, according to Personnel Director Dr. Carroll Sawin.

Pay raises approved by the board amount to about 5% per employee coupled with a two percent increment for employees on the salary schedule.

Wage hikes for lunchroom employees totaling some $52,000 also were approved by the board.

Raises will range between 15 and 22 cents per hour for kitchen workers, averaging increases of 15.5%. Increases for managers will range between 35 and 50 cents per hour with an average increase of 25.7%, according to Associate Supt. Dr. Robert Den Hartog.

Willard School Closing Slated

Willard School will be closed next year, the Lincoln Board of Education decided Monday night.

Members voted unanimously to serve the Willard area students at Lakeview. Some 33 students attended Willard last year.

No one appeared in opposition to the move at the board meeting. The action had been vigorously protested every time it was suggested in previous years.

Supt. John Prasch told board members that the school building would be maintained in case enrollment in the area ever warranted reopening.

Resignation Accepted

Washington (UPI) — President Nixon accepted the resignation of Hal F. Linder as U.S. ambassador to Canada. Linder, will leave his post to become chairman of the board of Princeton University's Institute for Advanced Studies.

Division Head Picked

Washington (UPI) — John Dean, 38, a former Urban Coalition and Office of Economic Opportunity executive, was named to head Democratic National Committee's minorities division.

In other business the board:

Approved a Follow Through program financed with federal funds to sustain and supplement in the early grades gains made by low-income children who have had Head Start or a comparable preschool program.

The 10 kindergarten classes at Clinton, Elliott and Park Schools will be involved in the program.

The district will receive $127,461 from the Office of Economic Opportunity and $25,514 from the Office of Education to operate the program. The district will provide $31,924 "in kind" contribution as matching funds and expend some $162,772 in maintenance of effort that would normally be spent for kindergarten at the schools.

Authorized purchase of property at 2285 W. from the city of Lincoln for $2,500 to extend the Whittier School parking lot.

Considered without action a proposal to allow the sale of paperback books in schools.

Accepted bid of $55,600 by Walldinger Corporation of Omaha to replace the Culler Junior High roof.

Accepted bids totaling $25,681 for science equipment at Goodrich Junior High.

Appointed Frederick W. Peterson, 38, administrative assistant for instruction and half-time director of Title I programs at a salary of $15,160.

Lincolnite Hurt In One-Car Crash

A Lincoln man was reported in satisfactory condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Tuesday after suffering facial injuries in a one-car mishap late Monday.

Police said Charles F. Swinscoe of 1430 Sumner was injured when the vehicle he was driving went out of control, jumped a curb, hit two traffic control signs, sheared off a power pole and then struck a garage at 4235 A.

Police said two other persons suffered minor injuries when attempting to shore up the heavily damaged garage.

Injured when the garage door fell were Police Lt. Clifton Koch and Merle Schwartz of 4235 A, the owner of the garage.

Roper To Speak At Dedication Of NU's Maxwell Arboretum

Elmo Roper, considered the originator of public opinion research and a native of Hebron, will be the main speaker at the June 8 dedication of the Earl G. Maxwell Arboretum on the University of Nebraska East Campus.

Designation of the arboretum was authorized by the NU Board of Regents in 1967. It is being named in memory of longtime NU Extension forester Earl G. Maxwell, who retired in 1953 and died in 1966.

Karl Loerch, state extension forester and chairman of the Maxwell Arboretum dedication committee, said Mr. Maxwell was responsible for obtaining, planting and caring for many of the several tree species in the Arboretum area and elsewhere on East Campus.

The Arboretum consists of an area bounded by Holdrege Street, the south boundary of the East Campus; the C. Y. Thompson Library on the west; the College of Dentistry parking lot on the east, and the former dairy complex on the north.

A large tablet commemorating the naming of the arboretum will be mounted on a large chunk of petrified wood which came from the Niobrara River area of northwest Nebraska.

Other speakers at the dedication will include Wesley Huenefeld of Aurora, who will deliver a tribute to Mr. Maxwell; and George Miller, administrator of the NU physical plant, who will discuss the place and importance of trees and open spaces in continuing campus growth and construction.

Dr. Joseph Soshnik, president of the Lincoln NU campuses and outstate activities, will preside at the program, and Dr. E. F. Frolik, dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, will deliver a welcome.

Lincolnite Wins State Optimists Oratorical Meet

Ogallala (P) — Chan Taylor of Lincoln will represent Nebraska Optimists at the organization's national convention oratorical contest June 21-26.

Taylor, a member of Lincoln Evening Optimists, was named winner of the state oratorical contest at the group's convention here.

Nebraska entrants spoke on "Respect for Law, the Cornerstone of Citizenship."

Pacing behind Taylor in the contest were, in descending order: Rudy McNear, Omaha; Mike Tom Jack, Hastings; and Don Voelker, Nebraska City.

Damages Sought In 2-Car Mishap

A $50,000 suit has been filed in Lancaster District Court by Carol Sue Ballard in connection with a two-car accident Oct. 21, 1968, near Paxton.

The plaintiff alleges negligence on the part of the defendant Barry L. Schwab, when the car he was driving in which she was a passenger collided with one driven by a second defendant, Ronald G. Drobny. She also alleges negligence on the part of a third defendant, William B. Sablin, owner of the car Schwab was driving.

As a result of the accident, the plaintiff alleges she received multiple injuries and fractures as well as shock to the nervous system.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The way of the future may be under consideration by the United Presbyterian Church, meeting in national assembly this week in San Antonio, Tex. The organization is considering, and might have approved by the time this appears in print, a proposal to raise $50 million for the poor.

The action stems from a request by minority groups for the commitment of $80 million to reparations for past injustices against minority races. The national church group has not necessarily responded to the "reparations" idea but has simply noted its historic responsibility to the poor.

The idea of "reparations" is not one likely to be well received in most quarters but what is done may well amount to the same thing. More and more, private groups are entering the field of programs for the poor and disadvantaged.

The insurance industry, including that here in Lincoln, has been active in the low-income housing area. Other business and industry have been active in the area of employment and other church groups, including the Denver Catholic diocese now headed by former Lincoln Bishop James V. Casey, have embarked on major anti-poverty programs.

This fits perfectly with the campaign statements of President Richard M. Nixon and his actions to date in office. The President campaigned on the theme of private, voluntary efforts in the area of anti-poverty and has since served notice that he hopes to curtail the federal effort in this area.

What remains to be seen is how effective this change will be in getting at the root of the economic and social problems that face the nation. To be effective, this approach will have to take on more universality than it now has and must show proven results.

The latter, possibly, might be forthcoming before the former. Programs within the private sector may succeed on an individual basis long before the vast majority poor are touched.

The point is that the private sector will find it difficult to attack the entire program wherever it exists. While we may have a housing program in Lincoln, what about unemployment?

And where a city has job training for the poor and unskilled in the private sector, what about housing and special education? What about health and the fundamental question of sufficient food to eat? For the time being at least, the federal government is likely to remain dominant in the field of health and diet.

Some areas of the nation, however, could find themselves without any anti-poverty programs if the situation is left totally in the hands of private enterprise. Such an approach, in other words, lacks a central direction that assures equity among the poor.

And for lack of the same thing, this voluntary, private approach may experience a high degree of failure. Programs are sure to be varied and mistakes that are made could easily be repeated by one group and then another.

The Presbyterians do not intend simply to distribute $50 million among the poor. Obviously, this would be a temporary shot in the arm with no lasting benefits.

They do intend, if they pursue the idea, to establish programs for assisting the poor in becoming economically independent. One then wonders what sort of administrative setup will be essential to achieve this and where the church will find the social experts it will need to do the job.

In the future, perhaps, one of the biggest demands of business, industry and others will be for trained social workers to execute the public service programs of these groups, just as scientists are now in demand for research work.

Private enterprise has met and conquered many challenges in the past but nothing that it will find more difficult than the task of fighting the nation's poverty.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

We May Soon See A Race Of Cyborgs

NEW YORK — The day is coming, some authorities predict, when the human body will be equipped with as many "spare parts" as a used car.

Heart valves wearing out? Get new ones made of soft silicone rubber around-tough polypropylene.

Arteries had it? Buy a new set in durable dacron.

Legs shot? Purchase an artificial pair with a normal walking operation programmed into the electronic mechanism.

This is not geriatric, blue-sky talk. According to no less a scientist than Herman Kahn, director of the Hudson Institute, "Think Tank," within 30 years we will be a nation of partially "synthetic" people. They will be called cyborgs — half man, half machine.

"The person may already be born," says Kahn, "who will live for several hundred years."

The family economics bureau of a life insurance company reports that physicians will be like engineers in the future.

It picturesquely forecasts the operating room of the future: a physician, bent over a patient beside a rack labeled "spare parts." The physician will be calling for "heart . . . scalpel . . . forceps . . . lung . . . artery . . . scissors . . . knee . . ."

A funny picture. But quite real. A seven-year research effort by the Atomic Energy Commission already has resulted in development of a nuclear power plant that consists of a minute amount of the radioisotope Plutonium-238.

This radioisotope could power a tiny "engine" for a lifetime — and such an engine, fueled by its own miniature nuclear furnace, could power a synthetic heart.

"A human being in the synthetic race of the future," forecasts the insurance company, "will be capable of losing his lungs, kidneys and heart to disease or age, and still survive as a cyborg."

"Other 'spare parts,' which are already available now, include artificial kidneys, arteries and heart valves, corneas, nose and ear cartilages, eardrums and toenails."

When we are a nation of cyborgs, will we be happy?

Well, that depends on our state of mind.

And the mind is the brain.

And the brain, medical scientists agree, is the one part of the body which never will be duplicated. A synthetic brain simply is inconceivable in the human world.

A cyborg is a cyborg is a cyborg. It is not a robot, robot, sbzz, sbzz, robot, robot, elkk, elkk, robot . . . robot . . .

Budget Goals Differ

There has been and will continue to be differences of opinion on federal budget priorities once the Vietnam war is ended. Although events in Vietnam and the seeming hopelessness of the Paris talks entertain the idea that the question will be debated for a long time to come, two highly placed officials in the Nixon administration in the past few days outlined budget goals which are sure to conflict.

Daniel P. Moynihan, the President's special assistant on urban affairs and one of the country's leading experts in that field, outlined a 10-point program for future government urban policy that would include a doubling of federal aid once the war ends.

Moynihan said that federal aid to state and local governments should be increased from the current 17% to about 33% of the national budget. This would provide the local governments with about $40 billion to mount a broad-based attack on the minority, education and employment problems challenging America.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, however, warned Americans that peace will not reduce military spending to a large degree. He said on Armed Forces Day that "a drastically reduced defense budget will not provide for adequate national security in the world in which we live."

He went on to criticize those who are concerned about the power and influence of the military-industrial complex, saying their thinking helps to weaken the nation's military strength.

It is a warning, of sorts, from Laird that the Pentagon will not want to part with too much of its huge chunk of the budget even when a part of the war machine is dismantled. And we will be a nation of sheep if the military persuades us that a dramatic increase in money to fight our domestic ills is not possible because of military needs.

On To The Moon

The U.S. prelude to the moon is now under way. Not a rookie is among the three astronauts now heading for an orbit around the moon but you would never know it from listening to them.

One of the astronauts, looking at the earth from his vantage spot in space, commented that "you blink your eyes and look out there; and you know it's three-dimensional. But it's just sitting out there in the middle of nowhere. It's unbelievable."

That might well be the reaction of anyone who would make the space flight. Certainly, to see the earth suspended as it is in the universe is an unbelievable sight. But the majesty and magnitude of the situation are just the things that make the space exploration what it is.

Ethics Code For Judiciary Long In Coming; Fortas Case Falls Within 'Borderline' Area

WASHINGTON — Inside fact is that Chief Justice Earl Warren for six years has been quietly supporting a law to set up a code for ethical conduct for the federal judiciary. If this had been adopted, there would have been no Fortas case, for all judges would have been required to file for public inspection their outside income.

A similar code has now been adopted for the House of Representatives following the Thomas Dodd and Adam Clayton Powell investigation, and is the healthiest development on Capitol Hill for honesty in government in congressional history.

Unfortunately, the Senate, despite public indignation over Sen. Tom Dodd's behavior, did not go as far as the House. While senators are required to list such outside income as book royalties, magazine and lecture fees, they are not required to publish their much bigger and more vital income such as legal retainers, stock and bond investments.

Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois is not required, for instance, to list the income from his Peoria law firm despite suggestion that he sometimes goes to bat for his law clients on the floor of the Senate.

Chief Justice Warren's concern over a judicial code of ethics stems from the fact that there is a borderline area, not clearly defined, in which judges may receive fees. Fortas was in this borderline area.

Such a case was that of Judge Harold Medina of the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York who, during most of his judicial career was vice president of the J. A. Medina Coffee Company. Judge and Mrs. Medina were also featured in a paid Pan American Airways advertisement carried by Time Magazine in January, 1954, promoting travel on Pan Am.

That same week an antitrust suit was filed by the Justice Department against Pan Am in the southern district of New York, the jurisdiction in which Judge Medina sat.

During the Roosevelt administration there was a rough crackdown on judicial corruption — the most severe crackdown in American history. Judge Martin Manton of the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York was convicted of taking a bribe. U.S. District Judge Albert Johnson in Pennsylvania retired after impeachment proceedings were started against him.

Justice Warren Davis of the Third Circuit Court of Appeals retired after Attorney General Francis Biddle recommended his impeachment.

U.S. District Judge John P. Nields in Delaware retired after an investigation was started of his decisions, one of them being a delay granted in the antitrust suit against the Radio Corporation of America after RCA's president, David Sarnoff, paid $5,000 apiece to Sen. George Moses of New Hampshire and Sen. John Townsend of Delaware, both big wheels in the Republican party.

On the Supreme Court during Roosevelt's day, Justice Pierce Butler put himself in a position of obvious prejudice in a 1936 ruling in which the Great Northern Railroad was given a $10 million tax break. Butler had once been an attorney for the Great Northern and other railroads and had promised the Senate subcommittee which in-

Brevity in letters is requested but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Too frequent contributions from one person on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

Prayer For Today

Lincoln, Neb.
I wish to share the following prayer:

"Our Father: Help those who are endeavoring to bring about some better way of life for themselves, to learn that they cannot achieve this through the fomenting of hatred and destruction. Help them to realize that, if history has any message for mankind, it is that those methods have always led only to more destruction, more hatred, and no solutions.

"Show them that almost 2,000 years ago, you offered to humanity through the example of Your Son the only practical solution for the ills of the world. Through Him, You showed us that nothing would ever really be solved until men were ready to accept and put into practice Your way of creativity and service and love between peoples of all kinds everywhere.

"Help them, help all of us, to see that right now, at this point in history, we have the opportunity to at least make a beginning. The chance to help mankind to begin its climb upward out of war, out of depravity, out of bitterness, out of hatred, toward a new bond of growth and love and, yes, brotherhood.

"Teach us to be a new kind of activist; that the activating of this creative spirit has always been our only real hope. For all of us, everywhere, show us the way to blow into it the breath of life, Amen."

MARGARET L. FOSTER

Lincoln General Use

Lincoln, Neb.

I'd like to see all those folks over 65 years of age who are interested in keeping the old Lincoln General Hospital for a nursing home ban together in large numbers to fight for their cause. If necessary, they could demonstrate peacefully and respectfully for their future or present needs.

I know of many aged welfare people who haven't a chance of getting into a care home due to the shortage of such places and, even more important, their financial ability. The hospital is in better condition than many homes where these people are now. Many of the aged are taking care of themselves the best they can with a minimum of energy.

Why couldn't the hospital be used for aged mobile people who are still quite able to take care of themselves with a minimum of nursing care? Just give them room and board, plus supervision in health problems. As funds become available, the one section could be remodeled by nursing home standards for the care of immobile patients. As more such patients need this type of care in the future, then other units could be reconstructed to their needs gradually. This would avoid the impact of the huge expenses immediately that everyone seems to be arguing about.

Most aged welfare folks live in rooms or houses that are inadequately heated, no air-conditioning, and some without baths, so the hospital, just as it is, would seem like a palace.

Old folks have paid taxes for years to provide lush schools and recreation for the young, to say nothing of their pioneering efforts and hard work to provide a beautiful country for the generations to enjoy. So why do the aged have to live so pitifully? I hope the oldsters get together and fight for their cause.

R. N. SORESENSEN

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How much truth is there to the opinion that you should massage the thighs, then exercise, and that in this way fatty deposits which cause heavy thighs can be diminished? Also, is it dangerous to massage your calves when you have pain due to broken (but not badly varicose) veins?—M.C.

Excess fat — in the thighs or anywhere — has to be used up by exercise, that is, "burned" by the body's functions or activity. Massaging, pummeling, or rubbing won't do it.

I know this answer will be a great disappointment to the many folks who want to reduce just one part of the body and not the rest.

Some people with fat tummies and thin legs want to know how to make their tummies smaller and their legs fatter. Others are just the reverse. Some complain, "My face gets so thin when I reduce, but nothing else does." And so on.

Some of the "reducing parlors" claim to be able to reduce one part of you and not another, but they are flying in the face of everything that is known about human physiology. If you are overweight, reducing will show some loss in all of the places where fat tends to accumulate — bust, waist, hips, arms, thighs, calves, or other roosting places for stored calories.

Some large thighs or calves are due to heavy muscular development; some areas acquire fat because we happen to be built that way. Sometimes the underlying bone structure influences our outer shape, but that can't be helped, either.

No, massage, vibrators, or other gadgets aren't going to accomplish what we call "regional reducing." Within small limits, and over a long stretch of time, muscular development can build up certain areas, but for all practical purposes, once we manage to reach whatever our proper weight is, and develop proper posture, that's about all we can do about our shapes.

In answer to your second question, it is not advisable to massage a leg having vein trouble. Rest, support, and at times medication are important, but massage is more likely to cause further damage than to be of benefit in any way.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told by my doctor to walk a lot to help my circulation and keep my weight down. But I have arthritis in my legs and find it tiring to walk very far. I like to rock on the porch. Would hard rocking do the same job? — Mrs. K. T.

No, the rocking chair won't take the place of exercise. Rocking is restful; you need muscle action to perk up circulation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am an elderly woman who has developed intestinal candida overgrowth from the use of an antibiotic. Is this an irreversible process? I discontinued the drug several months ago but see no change. Can anything be done?—R.F.

This candida overgrowth means that the normal bacterial content of the intestine has been suppressed by the antibiotics, so other organisms (yeasts, etc.) have flourished.

This is not an irreversible condition, but it may take time.

Buttermilk, preparations containing lactobacillus, and certain malt preparations (not beer) will reestablish the bacterial balance.

Note to C. J. S., Sr.: The continued habit of taking bicarbonate of soda can upset the stomach; there is no objection to using it to clean your teeth, however. Many people do so.

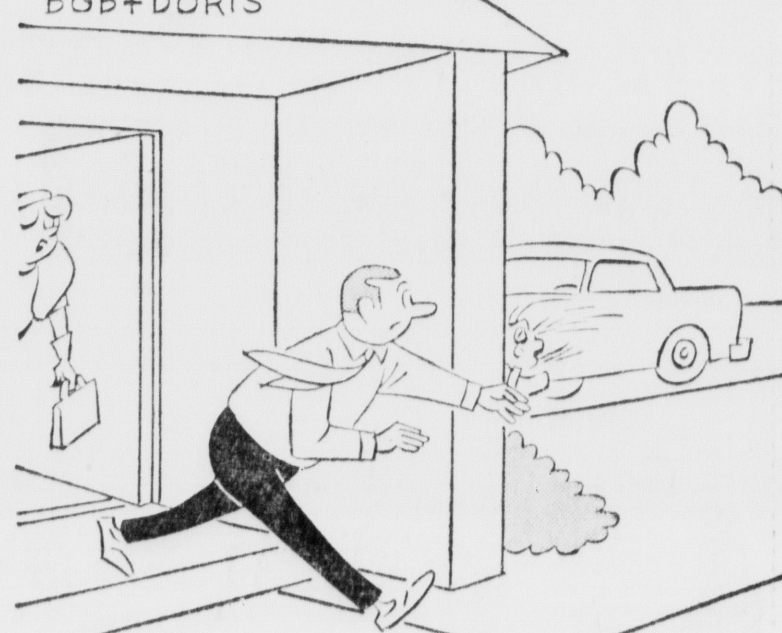

Dr. Thosteson is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume of mail received daily, Dr. Thosteson regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Childless Couple Tired Of Jibes

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — We're in our 40s, married 15 years, and don't have any children because we prefer to avoid the costs and complexities of child-rearing. But relatives and friends keep needing us about our failure to produce offspring. Their attitudes range from sheer pity to the suggestion we're impotent or sterile. We've evaluated the pros and cons and have come to the conclusion the world needs lots of things more than it needs additional babies. Must we be considered peculiar or pathetic?

A. — Anyone who chooses to act differently than the majority must face occasional jibes. Having babies is the standard ritual of young married couples, so your decision necessarily makes you an object for speculation. Take it in your stride and with good humor. One wishes more people shared your sentiments.

The rising birth rate coupled with soaring welfare costs suggests that too many people are having babies without considering the consequences.

Q. — "When we retire we'd like to bid the city goodbye and move to a small town somewhere, buy one of those big old Victorian houses, and offer board and room to maybe a dozen retired people. What do you think?"

A. — Maybe you can make it work, but I doubt it. If you'll check around, you'll find that in hundreds of small towns and villages there are folks with big homes offering board and room to elders. But they generally can't find enough takers to make it pay. The problem seems to be that few older people are interested in this type of accommodation. Big city elders generally prefer to stay near the bright lights. And small town elders prefer to remain in their own homes or apartments, or they want retirement residences offering nursing care.

Q. — Our golden age club is supported by city funds and the constitution says all members including the director must be past 60. But the directress chosen by a committee has black hair, a figure like a teenager and wears jangly jewelry. She claims she's 62 but we think she's just passing herself off as old to get the job. Some of us are thinking of petitioning to see her birth certificate. What do you think?

A. — I wouldn't bother. If she's lying about her age, she's probably got a birth certificate that supports her fib. The important consideration should be whether she's a good director and makes the club stimulating for members. Older people often claim they're discriminated against because they look too old. Don't make the opposite mistake and discriminate against this woman because she looks too young.

Bill To Hike Teacher Retirement Benefits Held

A bill increasing the annuity formula benefits of the state teachers retirement system was held for study Monday by the Legislature's Retirement Systems Advisory Committee.

Sen. Roland A. Luedtke of Lincoln, sponsor of LB790, said the increased annuity benefits could be provided at "no additional cost to the state."

Robert Flott, a Chicago consulting actuary, told the committee that an estimated $600,000 realized from better interest rates should be returned to the teachers in increased benefits.

The increased interest earnings resulted from 1967 legislation permitting broader investment of state retirement funds, which formerly was limited to governmental securities.

However, Fenton Isaacson, Omaha consulting actuary to the State Teachers Retirement System, suggested the state had underwritten the actuarial soundness of the system when interest rates were low.

"If interest rates go down in the next 10 years, are you going back to the teachers for the difference?" he asked. "The state assumed the risk when interest rates were low and should have the benefit now."

John Lynch, executive secretary of the Nebraska State Education Association, supported the bill's concept. Killed by the committee was LB880, proposing to increase prior service annuity benefits for state employees.

Also held by the committee following public hearing were eight other retirement bills:

—LB452, permitting employees of the State Colleges to purchase tax-sheltered, deferred annuity contracts with reduced salary agreement with the employer.

—LB793, harmonizing school retirement system provisions.

Committee OKs Measure Requiring Open Proceedings

The Legislature's Judiciary Committee approved a bill Monday to require all court proceedings in Nebraska to be open to the public.

The bill, LB1401, which was sponsored by the Judiciary Committee, was sent to the floor on a 6-0 vote after a short public hearing which produced no opposition.

Testifying in favor of the bill were Judge William J. Panec of Fairbury, president of the Nebraska County Judges Association and Jack Hart, editorial editor of the Lincoln Journal newspaper.

Hart said the bill would clarify a law passed in 1879 which said all courts in Nebraska must be open to the public.

However, he said, since there were no county or municipal courts at that time, the law leaves some question as to whether these types of courts are included under the law.

State Sen. Roland Luedtke of Lincoln, who introduced the bill on behalf of the committee, said the weakness in the law became apparent during the Thomas F. Davis murder trial in Grand Island.

In that trial, the judge closed the pretrial court proceedings at the request of the defense counsel, John Mitchell of Omaha.

LB802, increasing retirement benefits for state judges.
—LB825, redefining terms of the Retirement System for Nebraska Counties.
—LB846, redefining qualifications and increase salary benefits under the State's Reserve Teacher Act.
—LB878, lowering eligibility of the State Employees Retirement Act to age 25 from 30 and with one year's employment from the present three years.
—LB1228, permitting first class cities to contribute toward funding past service benefits of employee retirement programs.

Banking Committee

The Legislature's Banking Committee Monday approved and sent to the floor a bill which would extend from 85 to 120 months the maximum duration of an installment contract.

The committee-sponsored bill had been asked particularly by sellers of mobile homes, who said the longer contract period would reduce monthly payments so they can more easily be handled.

Approving action on the measure, LB1348, came during a brief noontime executive session of the committee.

Education Unit

Students in outlying areas of Class VI districts would be able to attend other schools under a bill given hearing before the Legislature's Education Committee Monday.

The committee took no action on the bill, LB1397.

Under the measure, students more than eight miles from a Class VI high school could attend an accredited school outside the district at the district's expense, provided the Class VI board approved the transfer.

Pansing To Head Symphony Group

Thomas Pansing Sr. was elected president of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra Association at a meeting of the group Monday.

Other new officers who will assume duties July 1 are Gene Tallman, vice president, Mrs. Keith Leatherman, secretary, and Mrs. Mort Novak, treasurer.

State Vocational School At Omaha Is Revived

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A bill to establish a state vocational technical school in Omaha was revived by the Legislature Monday and placed on general file for later debate.

Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha won 26-8 assent to pluck the proposal, LB177, out of its Education Committee deathbed. Twenty-five votes were required to raise the measure.

Danner said both youths and adults in the Omaha area need a vocational technical school to provide training for employment purposes. It should be state-operated and state-funded, he declared.

"If we can do it in Sidney," Danner said, "then we can do it in Omaha."

Two Schools

The state now operates trade schools at Milford and Sidney.

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell strongly supported Danner's effort, suggesting that "the whole state" should favor establishment of such a training facility in Omaha.

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said the proposal would "pour money down a rat-hole."

Private industry provides the best technical schooling through on-the-job training, Batchelder said, and that doesn't cost the state any money.

Said Discriminatory

But Danner said a number of labor union apprenticeship programs are discriminatory, and that kind of training is therefore not available to all persons.

Danner also insisted on state operation of the proposed school, rather than operation by the school board, because he said the Omaha board has cooperated with the unions in their apprenticeship programs.

Members of the Education Committee argued that a school could be established under the provisions of another pending bill, LB979, which provides for a statewide system of community colleges and junior colleges.

LB979 would provide for operation by local school boards, with an opportunity for combined area-state financing.

New Facilities

Danner said he anticipates the proposed Omaha school would require construction of new facilities.

Gov. Norbert Tiemann has proposed a $1 million appropriation to operate such a school in the Near North Side. But Danner's bill does not specify any location.

Voting against revival of the bill were Sens. Batchelder, Lester Harsh of McCook, W. H. Hasebroeck of West Point, C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha, Willard Waldo of DeWitt, Theodore Wenzlaff of Sutton, and Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox.

State Legislators Kill Recovery Of Court Costs Bill

By Associated Press

For the fifth time at the current session, a bill failed to pass on final reading in the Legislature Monday.

Stumbling was Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter's LB436, which would have permitted persons who win litigation with a governmental subdivision to recover court costs.

The vote on LB436 was 22-14, but at least 25 approving votes were needed for passage.

Specifically, LB436 would have provided that when a person or firm wins a lawsuit involving a governmental subdivision, either as plaintiff or defendant, and wins a judgment or award as a result, the attorney fees shall be taxed as court costs.

Other bills which failed on final reading included:

LB925 — Requiring employers to grant leaves of absence to employees named to public office.

LB924 — Reducing from seven days to three days the waiting period for Workmen's Compensation.

LB906 — Designating the American elm as the state tree.

LB934 — Giving the state fire marshal authority to ban open burning.

Adamson's Resignation Date Not Set

By Associated Press

State Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine said Monday he is not yet altogether certain when he will be resigning from the Legislature to accept a U.S. Department of Agriculture position to which he has been named, but that June 15 is a possibility.

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin has announced that the 49-year-old Adamson will become deputy assistant secretary in charge of marketing and consumer services.

Adamson said he has been asked to assume the position not later than July 1, and earlier if possible.

A member of the Legislature's Budget Committee, Adamson said he would "just as soon wait until the budget bill comes out" before departing the Unicameral, in which he has served since 1961. He said he also has some bills still pending.

Other matters to be taken care of, and which will affect his departure timing, include disposition of his home at Valentine and acquisition of housing in the nation's capital, he said.

Adamson said he plans another trip to Washington next weekend to check further on housing possibilities and other matters.

Eastern Training School Is Advanced

By JAMES STEVENSON
Associated Press Writer

The Legislature Monday morning gave 23-13 first-round approval to a bill which would establish an "Eastern Boys Training School" to supplement an existing training school in Kearney.

Under Beatrice Sen. Fred Carstens LB601, the proposed school would be located somewhere between Omaha and Lincoln, and Carstens suggested during the floor debate Monday that the best location might be on state-owned land near Mead.

The 23-13 approving vote moves the bill from general file, but left the bill's future in some doubt since 25 approving votes will be required to pass the bill on final reading.

The Kearney institution, Carstens charged, has become a "confinement or storage place" and that another institution is needed to provide rehabilitation of very young boys or boys convicted of relatively minor offenses.

That and the new school's proximity to Omaha and Lincoln, the two cities which contribute the bulk of the Kearney school's population, make the new facility imperative, Carstens said.

Opponents countered generally with claims that the cost of a new school would be prohibitive and that better work could be done by improving the programs at Kearney.

The population of the new school should "be, at a maximum, about 100 — with 60 to 80 better yet," Carstens said. "Its program should be geared to the sole purpose of making non-delinquents out of these kids."

Carstens said the fiscal impact should be left until after specific construction costs have been determined — probably in the 1971 legislative session — but that the institution could be set up "with less than $1 million."

He rejected completely some opponents' claims that the cost would exceed $8 million.

"This kind of information kills any bill," Carstens said. "We're just asking a rather modest home for young kids. I'm sure this project can be put in for about $1 million."

Carstens also rejected suggestions that younger offenders be assigned to the Geneva girls' institution, where some of the very young are already being assigned.

"If any idea is foolish, it's the idea that you can put delinquent boys in the same institution with delinquent girls and have them come out non-delinquent. That's about asinine as anything I've heard."

The Omaha-Lincoln location, Carstens said, would allow access to a number of hospital, psychiatric and educational institutions for consultations or aid, would allow minority group counselors to be recruited for jobs and would permit families to "keep in contact" with children.

The distance from the Kearney school to the eastern population centers now "makes it impossible for families to visit their children," he said.

Citing an "increasing confidence in the programs at Kearney and Geneva," Lincoln Sen. John Knight said that the state's "prime concern is to do a better job in rehabilitation programs at those institutions — I think that's the key to making inroads."

"A new institution is no insurance that we would not repeat the errors of the past," he warned.

Carstens said that Knight was suggesting "we just as well forget" about the juvenile delinquency problem.

Other opponents noted that the Kearney institution is not now at full capacity, but Carstens said the reason was "juvenile judges hesitate to send these kids there."

Warner Says It's More Expensive To Catch Up Than It Is To Keep Up

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Speaker Jerome Warner Monday suggested that Nebraska would find it "far more expensive later on to play a game of catch up than it is now to keep up" with essential spending needs.

Warner urged the Legislature to establish priorities, then engage in "selective spending and investment in those things we know are essential."

"That doesn't mean you expand every program that comes along," the Waverly senator noted. "But it does mean you react in the essential areas."

Answers 2 Solons

Warner commented in response to the weekend call for caution and conservatism issued by Sens. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland and William Wylie of Elgin, the Legislature's two other elected leaders.

"Everyone knows the taxpayers are concerned," Warner said, "that is all the more reason why we should establish priorities and concentrate on those investments which provide greater opportunities."

Warner last month suggested that education and highways be accorded the highest priorities for additional spending this session, and that appropriations be held generally within the limits of funding which could be provided by a 3% sales tax and a 12% personal income tax, or the equivalent thereof.

"Can't Fall Behind"

"If Nebraska wants to stay competitive, and if the people are to have a chance for expansion, we can't let ourselves fall behind," Warner said.

"We haven't been growing like other states. And states, I would suggest, are like plants. When they stop growing, they start dying."

Warner questioned how Wylie can fail to support some increase in tax rates.

"It is difficult for me to understand how he can announce that he will not vote for a change in rates when he is sponsoring two bills which would increase the budget in excess of $27 million," Warner said.

Mental Health Bills

Wylie is a sponsor of legislation which would shift mental institutional levy costs from the counties to the state, and a bill providing for state matching funds for community development of mental retardation facilities.

The costs of those measures amount to the equivalent of a 1% increase in the sales tax rate, Warner noted.

York Man, Burned While Making Call, Sues LT&T

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. has been sued in Lancaster District Court for $87,135 by a York man in connection with burns he received when lightning struck telephone lines and electricity was transmitted along the lines into his home when he was placing a long distance call.

Lowell Jensen of York alleges that on May 23, 1965, he placed a call to Omaha and about the time the call was completed a bolt of lightning struck telephone lines some distance from his farm home and electricity was transmitted along the lines into his property.

He contends that the telephone company was negligent in failing to have the lines properly grounded and in failing to make timely inspections of the system and its lightning arrestor system.

He further charges that the company failed to have the line equipped with proper and sufficient lightning arrestors and to have the telephone system and particularly that on the plaintiff's property properly grounded so lightning would not enter into and through the telephone.

As a result of the incident, Jensen alleges he suffered severe electrical burns of first degree on the neck, chest and abdomen and severe burns to the left ear resulting in complete loss of hearing and the ear drum which will necessitate surgery to rebuild the eardrum.

Bill Allowing G.I. To Annex Village Wins First Okay

A bill designed to permit Grand Island to annex the village of Parkview received 25-3 first round floor approval in the legislature Monday afternoon.

Sen. Don Elrod of Grand Island was chief sponsor of the measure, LB909.

The bill authorizes first class cities to annex second class cities and villages which are surrounded by the larger city if the larger city is in position to provide water mains, sewer lines, water and sewage treatment facilities, police, fire and snow removal services. Annexation would not be allowed if the smaller municipality was providing these utility services for itself.

Waldron Moves To Revive LB607

Sen. J. James Waldron of Callaway moved in the Legislature Monday to revive his bill which would place the Game and Parks Department under the executive direction of an appointee of the governor.

LB607 was opposed by Game Commission Director M. O. Steen and others at its public hearing, and was killed on a 6-0 vote of the Agriculture Committee.

Mrs. Shepherd May Make Motion To Fire Dr. Miller

Lexington (UPI) — State Board of Education member Deborah Shepherd of Lexington said Monday she may introduce a motion to fire State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller at the board's special meeting May 23.

Mrs. Shepherd, when asked if she would introduce such a motion, first replied, "Oh I don't think so."

"Of course, I don't know," she added quickly. "Maybe it depends on just how things go that day. Maybe we won't even do it that day at all."

"This could be just a meeting to decide and then have another one," she said. "It will just have to be however it comes up. And of course, you never know. If I have to I could."

Mrs. Shepherd has been one of Miller's most outspoken critics and has said she thinks Miller should be fired.

The special board meeting was called Saturday by State Board President Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk. It was called after a special attorney hired by the board, M. J. Bruckner of Lincoln, said the board would not have to give Miller a hearing or have a specific reason in order to fire him.

Are you sure you're getting the most refrigerator for the money?

Does it come with an automatic ice maker?
If you want it to. And it's an automatic ice maker that makes non-stick cubes. Stores over 700 of them. If you don't need the ice maker now, this refrigerator is built so you can add one anytime.

Is it versatile inside and out?
It's as versatile as you want it to be. Sturdy, cantilevered shelves can be snapped in and out to fit extra-tall bottles or big, bulky turkeys. Even the door shelves are adjustable. And if you decide to re-decorate, you don't need a new refrigerator. Just add a new, easy-to-install door panel. Comes in 5 colors. Or a plain panel you can custom-decorate yourself.

Can it keep meat fresh for 7 days without freezing?
The Westinghouse 7-day Meat Keeper is a separate climate-sealed compartment that maintains exact temperature, proper humidity and uniform air circulation. Helps you plan meat meals quickly and efficiently.

Is it roomier inside without being bulkier outside?
With Westinghouse, you get 15 cubic feet of roominess in the same floor space of previous 11 cubic foot models. Made possible by sturdy Slim-Wall design with thinner, more efficient insulation. More storage space without more floor space. And Slim-Wall insulation makes it less expensive to operate.

Is it work-free because it's Frost-Free?
Westinghouse got rid of one of the kitchen's worst chores by getting rid of the frost. All over — automatically. For added convenience, glide-out adjustable rollers let you move your refrigerator out for easy cleaning.

NU Regents Appoint Tommeraasen Director Of Business And Finance

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Dr. Miles Tommeraasen Monday was appointed director of business and finance for the University of Nebraska Lincoln campus and outstate activities.

The NU Board of Regents named Tommeraasen to the new position at its meeting here.

Tommeraasen, a member of the NU faculty since 1964, has been serving as assistant dean of the college of business administration and associate professor of finance.

The new director will work primarily with financial and budget planning for the Lincoln campus and outstate activities.

Many Duties

The new position carries many of the duties formerly performed by Lincoln President Dr. Joseph Soshnik when he served as vice chancellor for administration. A vice chancellor for financial affairs for the entire university system is still being sought, according to NU officials.

The duties of Business Manager Carl Donaldson and Comptroller Carl Yost will remain essentially the same, it was reported.

In other personnel action Dr. Marion D. Cotten was named chairman of the department of pharmacology at the NU Medical Center in Omaha. Formerly professor and chairman of pharmacology at the University of Oklahoma, Cotten will hold the rank of professor.

New Appointments

New faculty appointments included:

—Dr. Clair M. Hibbs, formerly at Kansas State University, associate professor of veterinary science and veterinary diagnostician at the North Platte Station.

Acting Chancellor Dr. Merk Hobson reported that the NU had received almost $2 million more in grant support during 1969 than received in 1968, "despite announced cuts in federal programs."

Over $8 Million

NU received a total of $8,391,134 in grants for research, fellowships, training, special programs, and instruction, compared with $10,011,443 in the 11-month period ending April 30.

Another $1,892,561 was accepted by the Regents during the period in 1969 for contract support, boosting the total figure to $11,904,095.

Monday the Regents accepted $200,289 in research grants, $468,431 in fellowships, $282,607 in training grants and $1,521,612 in special program grants received from April 3-30, 1969.

Authorize Application

The NU School of Journalism was authorized to apply for a 10-watt educational FM license for a campus radio station to be used as a teaching tool. It would replace the carrier current radio station KNUS now in use.

According to Soshnik, programming will be controlled completely by staff members of the journalism school. He said that the station would serve a dual purpose of a teaching laboratory and student entertainment.

Three resolutions also were approved by the board Monday, implementing the previously approved policy of the Regents regarding action in the event of campus disorders, establishing procedures for fast action in buying and selling securities with the advice of the NU Foundation, and reaffirming county work load formulas as

OK Purchases

The Regents approved purchase of three pieces of property, including a lot at 1966 S St., owned by Clara and Andrew Phillips, for $3,500; 518 So. 40th in Omaha, owned by Mrs. Rose Roffman, for $35,000; and 4025 Neal St. in Omaha, owned by Edward Syas, for $19,500.

Rudy Horwath of A. A. Horwath and Sons laundry equipment distributors appeared before the board to protest handling of bids on laundry equipment for the University Hospital in Omaha.

Horwath presented information about his company's equipment in comparison to other brands. He complained that on several occasions when he had sub-

★ ★ ★ NU Regents Defer Action On UNO Lot

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Monday voted to defer any action on enlarging parking facilities at the Omaha campus.

Board members voted unanimously to return bids on a proposed project to tear up part of the lawn at UNO to make a parking lot.

After the meeting UNO President Dr. Kirk Naylor said the decision means that "in September we're not going to have any additional parking on the campus."

He said that university and local officials will be meeting in the future to attempt to work out a solution to the problem.

Naylor also indicated that high-rise parking facilities are "not the answer at our university." 30,000 cars are on the campus every day, with some 3,000 leaving every hour.

The school needs facilities for those who work to "get off the campus as rapidly as possible," he said.

mitted the low bid, it has been recommended that a higher bid be accepted.

No action was taken on the matter Monday.

The Regents accepted the following bids:

—$20,993 for a perimeter road on the East Campus by T. M. Construction Co. $125,950 for air conditioning the College of Law building, by Cornhusker Heating and Air Conditioning Co. $21,607 for University Hospital linen and utility carts by American Hospital Supply.

LAP Survey Shows Housing 'Biggest Problem'

According to a survey taken by Lincoln Action Program (LAP) staff members, housing needs top the list of problems of Lincoln's low-income people.

At a Monday night board meeting, LAP officials approved a list of goals dealing with housing for the coming program year and also approved measures concerned with employment, education, and health needs.

Housing goals which were adopted for the coming program year state that LAP will take steps to assist in the rapid implementation of a minimum housing code, lend assistance to the Lincoln Housing Authority and other related organizations and aid in the expansion of a housing program account which was previously delegated to the Better Lincoln Committee.

Other goals dealing with housing include an in-depth study of housing information, the continuation and expansion of home improvement programs and the seeking of new federal programs and other avenues which could assist in the construction and rehabilitation of housing designed for those of low income.

Among specific needs of employment, which was ranked second in importance in the LAP study:

—A cooperative effort with employers to raise wage standards.

—Broadened range and availability of grading skills.

—An assessment job of qualifications in relationship to position requirements.

—An active effort to eliminate job discrimination in areas related to race, sex and age.

Education Needs

Although the study indicated that many education needs are currently being met in Lincoln, among the goals adopted by the board were:

—An increase in vocational training.

—The establishment of counseling and training programs and active support of a community college.

—The continuation of preschool Head Start-type programs.

—The expansion and improvement of adult high school programs.

In other action, LAP officials approved program account budget applications of $52,000 for central administration and planning and resource mobilization.

According to LAP Director, Art May, a total of $547,000 may be available by October 1 for the funding of new and continuing community programs.

Spotlight Is On Young Set

Figuring prominently in this morning's news from Lincoln's suburban neighborhoods are the members of the younger generation, whose propensity for doing things rivals that of their always-busy parents! Of course May is traditionally a "spotlight on students" month, with graduation festivities for all age groups filling the calendar.

One young suburban resident who won't be ready to graduate for another three years, but who nevertheless has been honored for his classroom achievements is Kirk Greuter, son of Patricia Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greuter. Kirk, who is a freshman majoring in art at the University of Nebraska, has been chosen as one of the exhibitors in the annual student art show being held at Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery through June 8. Mrs. Greuter tells us that one of her son's pencil sketches is among the works of art currently on exhibit.

Birthday parties are one particular kind of activity that people of all ages enjoy — or maybe we should qualify that statement for those in the "over 30" category by adding that such festivities are enjoyed as long as they are for someone else! One young lady who is not about to let an extra year bother her is Miss Brenda Brestle, who attained the age of 14 on Saturday, May 17. Brenda, who is the daughter of Country Club Terrace residents, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Brestle, observed the occasion by hosting a number of her friends at a roller skating party.

Lincoln Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Underhill are proud to announce that the month of April brought a brand new addition to their family. His name is Floyd Walker, Jr., and he is the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Underhill's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walker of Pleasant Hill, Mo. Young Master Walker made his debut on April 9 and he is Mr. and Mrs. Walkers' first child. His maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Walker, also of Pleasant Hill, Mo.

Incidentally, we understand that Mrs. Underhill recently took a four-day trip to Missouri where she visited with her son-in-law and daughter, and became acquainted with the new arrival.

Guests are also being entertained at the Kimberly Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Multer and their son Mark. Arriving in Lincoln last Friday for a two-week stay were Mr. Multer's sisters, Miss Darlene Multer and Mrs. Guy Bauman, both of Anaheim, Calif.

On Sunday, the two Californians were guests of honor at a patio party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Multer. Other guests included Mrs. Ruth Multer and Tommy Multer.

MISS TRISHA ANN DUECKER

Of interest to town and campus circles this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Duecker of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Trisha Ann, to Kenneth M. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Green of Omaha.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, July 26.

Miss Duecker is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Green also is a sophomore at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

MISS JEANETTE LARSON

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Larson of Norfolk make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Jeanette Kay, to Terrence Lee McClellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson D. McClellan of Omaha.

Saturday, Aug. 30, has been chosen as a wedding date.

Miss Larson is a senior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Chi Omega sorority, and of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music sorority.

Mr. McClellan also is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

NU Coed Is Bride

The altar of St. Matthews Church, Episcopal, was appointed with all-white blossoms Saturday afternoon, May 17, for the wedding of Miss Carol Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loren L. Andrews, and John H. Ziegenbein, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Ziegenbein of Columbus. The service was solemnized by the Rev. James Stilwell.

Frocked in turquoise chiffon over taffeta were Mrs. Larry Hamer, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Carrie Douglass, Junction City, Kan., and Miss Chris Seeman, Red Oak, Iowa.

Serving as best man was David Heiser of Columbus, and the groomsmen and ushers were Bill Strateman, Gretna; Ken Ferrarini, Omaha; Jim Hogansen, Columbus; Steven Andrews, Richard Baldwin and Dan Gatto.

Venise lace trimmed the bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta, which was designed in the modified skimmers silhouette and completed by an aisle-wide court train. A cluster of organza blossoms held her bouffant illusion veil, and she carried white orchids, stephanotis and valley-lilies in a cascade bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ziegenbein, a coed at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, will reside in Evanston, Ill., where the bridegroom attends Northwestern University. He is a former student at the University of Nebraska and a member of Phi Delta Theta.

'Tricia Nixon Emerges

(c) New York Times Service

Washington — Just when Washington was beginning to hoist a placard reading "Tricia Nixon uses vanishing cream," the President's 23-year-old blonde daughter has become visible.

She tried her wings as a social butterfly when she gave her first White House party — a black tie, masked ball for 400 in the state ballroom.

Her escort — who has shied away from being called her date — is Rep. Barry M. Goldwater Jr., the 30-year-old son of the Arizona senator.

"Tricia and Barry have known each other for a long time," his mother said not long ago. "They were on the campaign trail at the same time last year, too."

When Goldwater was campaigning in March, his mother was doing a bit of polite campaigning for him at the White House. She came up to Tricia at Mrs. Nixon's March 15 dinner (for wives of the Gridiron Club's executive board) and asked:

"Couldn't you remind your father about this hard-working young Republican?"

Later at the party, someone suggested the possibility of a romance between Mrs. Goldwater's son and Tricia Nixon. Mrs. Goldwater smiled and said, "well, he's got to win his way to Washington first."

Having won his way to Washington, in his first week in town he was Tricia's escort in the most public event of her private life since she changed addresses.

The two have more in common than the fact that their fathers both ran for president. Tricia's politics have always been known as conservative. She wrote to Lester Maddox in Georgia, during his fight against serving Negroes in his restaurant, and suggested that he make it a private club.

But Tricia does no campaigning for personal publicity. Her mother's press secretary, Gerry Van Der Heuvel said once, "she (Tricia) just happens to be a very private person."

"When you don't read about me in the newspapers," Tricia once said, "you know I'm having a good time."

Always called the shy one of the family, she has been infrequently seen, much less heard around Washington. But she has been breaking away.

On a recent Saturday she went on an unheralded visit in a sport car with a tall, blond young man to the National Collection of Fine Arts first anniversary daytime celebration. Thursday she was hostess to 30 servicemen on the Presidential cabin cruiser, the Sequoia. A Marine combo played for the group. Soft drinks and supper were served.

The men came from Bethesda Naval Hospital, Walter Reed Army Medical Center and the Dewitt Hospital at Andrews Air Force Base. The Sequoia trip will be a weekly affair for Washington area servicemen. But Tricia will not always go.

Among the men's names which appeared on Tricia's ball card were the young men she has been seen with on occasion: Doug Rogers, 22, son of the Secretary of State, who escorted her to the inauguration; Bruce Smathers, 25, son of former Florida Sen. George Smathers, who took her to the Miami Beach gala before the Republican convention; Larry Drown, 22, who went with Tricia to the inaugural concert, and Ben Cotton, 33, who was her escort for a boat ride the D. C. Republicans gave last summer.

Abby: iron the shorts

DEAR ABBY: I've been happily married for 5 years and you may not think this is much of a problem, but here goes:

When Clyde and I were first married, he asked me to IRON his undershorts. He says his mother always did.

Well, at first I didn't mind because we had no children, but now we have two, and I could save a lot of time by just tossing them in the dryer and folding them, but I tried that once and I never heard the end of it. Clyde said he could "feel" the difference.

Abby, I love my husband, but don't you think if he had a little more consideration for me he wouldn't ask me to iron his underwear?

What would YOU do?

I bought the material myself and paid $4 a yard for it. I bought plenty of material so she wouldn't have to skimp. I also told her I am a size 12.

Well, the Saturday before Easter Sunday, Paula brought the dress over and it looked beautiful! Before church, I tried it on and it was so tight and short I couldn't wear it.

A few days later I saw Paula's little 6-year-old daughter wearing a dress made out of the same material as MY dress. Now

DEAR ABBY: I plan to give a party for my father's 80th birthday. My problem is this: I'm going to invite a lot of his friends and relatives, and I don't want them to spend a lot of money on expensive presents. Dad is not a wealthy man. He lives very simply, and doesn't need a thing.

Would it be improper for me to ask those I invite to make a contribution to a charity instead?

My father is a kind and fun-loving man, and the greatest gift to him would be for people to come and have a good time.

A DAUGHTER
DEAR DAUGHTER: Most people instinctively know better than to "spend a lot of money on expensive presents" for an 80-year-old man. Those so moved will do it anyway. The others will do what comes naturally. So forget it. Invite the friends and relatives and have a good, relaxed time.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

Some hands lend themselves to a tug-of-war contest, where one side may suddenly yank the other out of position and in that way score the final victory.

For example, take this hand where South gets to three hearts on the bidding shown. There is some question whether South should bid over two hearts, but let's assume he does.

The defense now has an opportunity to put declarer down one, but they must defend very well or South will make the contract.

Let's suppose West cashes the A-K-Q of clubs and shifts to a trump. Declarer wins with the queen, finesesses the queen of diamonds, returns to his hand with a trump, and leads a diamond to the ace.

If West still has the king of diamonds — which he may have if he is not paying close attention to the play — South makes the contract by leading the eight of diamonds and discarding a spade on it. West is forced to win with the king and return either a spade or a club, thus handing South his ninth trick.

If West unloads his king of diamonds the first or second time the suit is led, the burden of defense then shifts to East, who must also mind his p's and q's or South will romp home with the contract.

Assuming West has divested himself of the king of diamonds when the eight is led from dummy, South does best by ruffing East's nine, returning to dummy with a trump, and leading a low spade.

If East carelessly follows low, declarer makes the hand by inserting the seven. West wins with the jack but must yield the rest of the tricks, whatever he returns. He is endplayed.

But if East puts up the nine on the spade lead from dummy, South must lose two spade tricks and go down one. The tug of war is won by the defense.

DOWNTOWN & GATEWAY

POSTCARD
by

Stan Dolaplane

What's the news on a sunny day in May. Israel may have a nuclear bomb. ("What Cairo?") The mark goes up. The franc and pound going down. Children are popping pills like we used to pop popcorn.

Where is the good news, friends?

Well, if you are going to get married, do it in Maine or Vermont. North and South Dakota or Washington, D.C. Marriages in these ever-loving states have odds of seven to one against divorce.

Get married in California or Arizona, you've only an even money bet. You only live once, so live it wisely.

Since a snake has no eyelids, it's eyes are always open. Possibly this is where we get "wise as a serpent."

With eyes open constantly, a snake misses nothing.

We haven't given much attention to snakes recently.

But there aren't many snake stories. When we find a snake in the garden, that's neighborhood news.

A famous publisher of a famous newspaper had an aversion to snakes. He ordered his editors never to let the word appear in the paper.

Consequently many people were snake-bitten and no one the wiser.

If the word appeared in a comic strip, it was chiseled out. Leaving many readers asking, "What's going on in Dick Tracy today?"

England is on the Health Plan. Free medical service. Well, a hysterical patient was visiting Dr. Humphrey Booth. And the doctor punched him and broke his jaw.

He set it — free, of course.

When I was living in London, I got my medicine off-the-plan. You can do that. Pay the doctor a fee.

I didn't want to soak the British taxpayer. And I didn't want a hasty medic clobbering me in the jaw either.

About those marriages in the wrong locations. Here's a lady Mrs. Joyce B. in Los Angeles. (Marriages v.s. divorces even up.)

The day they separated, her husband took her false teeth. Buried them in the backyard. He wouldn't tell her where.

"Granted," said the judge. "Next case."

In London — and that's a poor town for wedlock, too — Hildegard M. sued Mike M. for divorce.

"Don't eat the fruit pie with your fingers, liv," she said to Mike.

Mike then picked up the entire pie and shoved it in her mouth.

"Don't talk with your mouth full," he said.

"Granted," said the judge.

However, another English judge denied a divorce to a lady who said her husband threw an egg at her.

"And odd shot with an egg is not cruelty," he ruled. (It's all in the point of view, isn't it, ducks?)

A town to watch out for is Zurich, Switzerland. It has an unpredictable wind called the Foehn. Comes from the Mediterranean.

When this Foehn blows, accident rates go sky high. Divorce actions — everybody's running to her lawyer. "Zo! He beat me like a cow bell."

Fortunately this wind doesn't last long. A few days and all hands calm down.

3 NU Students Receive Marketing Studies Award

Three University of Nebraska students have been named the recipients of the annual Earl S. Fullbrook Award for excellence in marketing studies. The winners are Gary L. Benton, Patrick G. McNulty, and Bruce N. Kunkle.

Gary Benton, a graduate student in business, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Benton of McCook. He is a 1963 graduate of McCook High School and a 1968 graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Patrick McNulty of Brock is a 1963 graduate of Consolidated High School of Brock and a 1969 graduate of the University of Nebraska.

Bruce Kunkle is a pharmacy major and a 1966 graduate of Grand Island High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. Neil Kunkle of Grand Island.

Worker Fund Payments Bill Is Killed

By Associated Press

The Legislature rebuffed its Labor Committee Monday and killed a bill which would have made it a misdemeanor for an employer to fail to make promised payments into a health, welfare, pension or vacation fund for employees.

The measure, Omaha Sen. Richard F. Proud's LB531, had won 5-2 endorsement from the Labor Committee but was killed on a 24-14 vote on general file.

Similar bills were killed also at the 1965 and 1967 sessions.

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland made the kill motion. He noted the bill picks out one small portion of a labor-management agreement and makes it a crime, punishable by a fine of $100 to $500, for the employer to fail to live up to it. But the bill hangs no similar penalty on employees for failing to live up to the contract, by violating a no-strike pledge, for instance.

There already are "tried and tested" civil law remedies for breach of contract, Holmquist noted.

Sen. Proud countered by offering to support an amendment — if Holmquist would offer one — to make violation of a no-strike pledge a misdemeanor as well.

Proud said the bill is aimed at situations where employees think they are covered by health insurance and suddenly find themselves uncovered because the employer has failed to make the promised premium payments.

Proud contended Holmquist was saying in effect that "it's okay for an employer to steal from his employee, but not okay for the employee to steal from the employer."

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said an aggrieved employee can appeal to the AFL-CIO, and the latter organization is now so potent "it's really running the country."

Batchelder termed the bill "harrassment" and said its only purpose is "to provide the union with a little more of a club over management."

Pro Bowlers To Lincoln?

Lincoln, which has played host to more national sports events in the last half a decade than any other city its size, now has an opportunity to add to its sports image on the national scene.

The city has been offered the final spot on the pro bowling tour for next fall's season and deliberations are now going on whether or not to accept the offer.

If Lincoln turns the offer down, a move it can hardly afford to make, the spot will be filled by Atlanta, Ga.

If Lincoln does accept, it will join St. Louis, Detroit, Joliet, Ill., Rochester, N.Y., and New York City as stops on the six-tourney fall tour.

Harry Golden, tournament director of the pro tour, met in Lincoln Monday noon with Chamber of Commerce officials and Capital City bowling proprietors.

"I have looked at three bowling lanes in this city," Golden said. "And they are excellent facilities for our tour."

Hollywood, Plaza or Parkway

Golden visited Hollywood Bowl, Plaza Bowl and Parkway Monday morning and put his stamp of approval on any of the three as a site for his group to conduct a $30,000 tournament Nov. 13-16.

"Hollywood and Parkway have the best locker facilities for the bowlers," he said. "But I think Plaza could seat a few more in the bleacher area."

Of the $30,000, Lincoln must come up with $10,000 for prize money, plus another couple of thousand for other expenses.

Golden outlined easy methods of raising such money, the primary one being a pro-am with amateur bowlers bowling with the pros the first day of the tourney.

"It's possible to raise $10,000 through this pro-am process," he pointed out. "because the pros get no money out of the pro-am."

Of the $50 amateur entry fee for the pro-am, $25 goes back to the amateurs in prize money with the other $25 going to pay expenses, meaning 400 entries in the pro-am would net $10,000.

Generally, the amateur does not pay $50 to compete in the pro-am, but rather pays $4 to vie with other bowlers in a roll-off for spots in the pro-am.

If the bowling establishments keep $1.50 of the $4 and put the other $2.50 into the pro-am kitty, it can send one amateur into the pro-am for every 20 entries it gets in the roll-off.

"When Omaha hosted us two years ago, they had 198 amateurs in the pro-am, but the tournament was held on a Labor Day weekend and the promotion of roll-offs had to be conducted during non-bowling summer months," Golden pointed out.

"I think Lincoln with a tournament in November in the middle of the busy bowling season could come up with more entries than that."

Lincoln bowling proprietors Red Smith and Jim Dill also expressed confidence that help would come from out-state bowling lanes.

Golden indicated that if Lincoln accepted the tourney, it would involve 96 professional bowlers, including most of the top 20.

"We aren't yet competing for as much money as the pro golfers," he noted. "So our bowlers cannot afford to skip tournaments like the golfers do."

"We've never had fewer than 15 of the top 20 money winners at a tournament and we generally have 18 to 20 of the top 20 money winners present."

Lincoln has played host to national swimming meets, national wrestling meets, national roller skating championships in the past five years and now has a chance to put another sports dot on its map with hardly any risk of losing money.

It's a chance it can hardly afford not to take.

—MEETING FRIENDLY—

Billy's Differences With Brass Settled

St. Paul-Minneapolis (P) — Minnesota Twins manager Billy Martin had a friendly meeting Monday with club president Calvin Griffith, assistant farm director George Brophy and farm director Sherry Robertson.

The four men spent 25 minutes behind closed doors discussing remarks Martin made Sunday which involved Brophy and Robertson, Griffith's brother.

A spokesman for the Twins said the difficulties were cleared up and it was agreed that decisions involving the ball club are to be made by Griffith and Martin.

Martin apologized when he came unsmiling out of the meeting. "I should have said what I did to them personally and not gone through the papers," Martin said. "I've apologized to both Sherry and Brophy and I hope it's forgotten."

Griffith said there will be a new format under which Martin will air his complaints.

"Anything Billy has to say about the organization he will say to me first," Griffith said. "I'll talk with Sherry and if we don't agree we'll sit down together and work it out in the open."

Martin's outburst in the dressing room Sunday, following Minnesota's fourth straight loss, was prompted because Charlie Walters was optioned to Charlotte of the Class AA Southern League instead of the Twins' Triple A farm at Denver. The manager said the change was made after he had told Walters that rookie hurler would go to Denver.

Martin said he wasn't faulting Griffith, "a champion."

"But he gets all kinds of alibis and lies," Martin said of the club president. "These are my players. I didn't sign them. I inherited them. And I'm going to fight for them."

Griffith acknowledged Monday that he had first told Martin that Walters was ticketed for Denver.

"But this was before I knew we had 25 players at Denver and that the limit is 21. I sat down with Sherry and George and they told me Walters didn't have a breaking ball or a curve. You're not going to win in Denver without me."

The general manager gives the manager the players to play with, the club president — GM added. "Managers don't know the facts of life in the minors. We have more experience in our farm department and we'll continue to do it that way."

Martin was irked too because rookie pitcher Bill Zepp was optioned on the opening day of the season to Red Springs, N.C. and later to Charlotte.

Chicago White Sox Edge Farm Club, 4-3

Appleton, Wis. (P) — Tom McCraw drove in three runs for the Chicago White Sox as the American League club took a 4-3 exhibition victory over its Midwest League-leading farm club, the Appleton Foxes, Monday night.

McCraw singled home a run in the fourth, and added a two-run double in the fifth. A double by Rick Morales brought home a run in the fourth frame.

Horton Says Personal Problems Caused Walkout

... WILLIE NOW SEEKING FORGIVENESS FROM FANS, PLAYERS

Detroit (P) — Willie Horton now hopes "the kids, the fans and the ball players forgive me" for walking out on the world champion Detroit Tigers, an action which the slugging outfielder now terms "a bad mistake."

Being AWOL for the seventh-inning of a game last Thursday night cost Horton $1,360, or $340 for each of four games, before he went back on the payroll Sunday night following a meeting with general manager Jim Campbell.

No one yet has explained precisely why Willie walked out, but he denied it was either a desire to be traded or because fans booed him both afiel and at bat Wednesday and Thursday.

"There were a lot of things, personal things, involved," Horton said Monday. "But added 'I got my problems settled before Mr. Campbell got back to town' from a weekend in Minneapolis."

"Willie has some personal problems. They're very personal. It's a combination of things," Campbell said after a two-hour meeting with the 26-year-old Negro athlete.

The Tigers general manager said Horton's problems are unrelated to baseball or working conditions with the Tigers, who pay him $60,000 a year.

"Some people say it (the cause) was the fans, but it was a personal problem... something I had to work out," Horton said.

"Just four days' pay. That's it," Campbell said of Horton's punishment, after the burly left fielder told him "I feel real good now" and would be aboard the team's charter flight today for Chicago.

Manager Mayo Smith said he wants to talk to Horton "to find out what's going on" and to also see him swing a bat before deciding on when Horton returns to the starting lineup.

The Tigers have won three straight, including the game Horton walked out on, since his departure. Formerly an idol of Detroit fans, Horton drew his first boos last week. In the midst of a batting slump, his average has dropped to .213.

He hit 36 home runs and batted .285 last season as the Tigers won the American League pennant and then the World Series from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Recalling Horton tried to boost his salary from $30,000 to $100,000 after the 1968 season, sports writer Watson Spoelstra of the Detroit News said:

"Friends and family are trying to prod him into the $100,000 class. Basically, these are the personal problems that are bugging the powerful young hitter. The people closest to Horton have to let up on him."

L.A. LAKERS' COACH RESIGNS

Longden's Decision Is Unchanged

Baltimore (P) — "I'm doing what I think is best for the horse... I don't care what people say."

The words of trainer Johnny Longden were as clear as his determination that the welfare of Majestic Prince meant more than winning the Triple Crown of racing and much more than what critics may have to say about it.

"I train my horse and don't have time to worry about that," he said Monday.

Longden left for California with his wife Monday after taking a final look at his undefeated 3-year-old colt, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness Stakes. The Prince will also be flown to California Wednesday.

Mike Bao, Longden's assistant, will accompany Majestic Prince on the flight. Another horse owned by Frank McMahon will be aboard the same plane.

Longden said he would take Majestic Prince to his Riverside ranch to rest for about six weeks.

"This colt has had two tough races in two weeks and I just don't think it's fair to ask him to go the Belmont's mile and one-half in only three more weeks," Longden told newsmen after deciding not to try for the Triple Crown sweep last accomplished by Citation in 1948.

He says there's nothing wrong with Majestic Prince.

"I'm going to give him a rest and try to have a good horse for the fall," he said before leaving. "There are lots of races."

One of the races Longden mentioned was the American Derby at Arlington Park, a $100,000 1½-mile race for 3-year-olds.

Another trip to the east coast was also mentioned by Longden.

Majestic Prince has been invited to the $100,000 Monmouth Invitational Handicap on Aug. 2, along with Arts and Letters, runner-up in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness. That race is also 1½ miles.

Longden also said he would consider running Majestic Prince in the $150,000 Washington, D.C. International at Laurel, if invited. The International is 1½ miles on grass.

Can Majestic Prince race over a turf course?

"I think so — he can run on anything," Longden said. "He can run all day; he can win at two miles. I know what he can do."

Congressmen Say Fired AL Umps Smear Victims

Washington (P) — Two congressmen campaigning on behalf of two fired American League umpires charged Monday that baseball officials are conducting a secretive smear campaign against the umpires.

"We have received reports that there has been underway for some time what appears to be a determined attempt to discredit Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, not as umpires, but as individuals," said Sen. Charles E. Goodell and Rep. Alexander Pirnie, both New York Republicans.

"In our book, such a move falls under the heading of character assassination," they said in a statement.

Wedge 'Bridges' 20-Yr. Gap

... NORFOLK EXECUTIVE GETS SECTIONAL BERTH

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Don Bridge, a greying Norfolk feed company executive, finally gained a spot in U.S. Open golf sectional qualifying Monday after 20 years of trying, but it took an 80-yard wedge shot for an eagle-2 on the third extra hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Bridge won the fourth of four spots in local qualifying at the Lincoln Country Club in the playoff after a three-way tie with pros Tom Williamson of the Lincoln Country Club and Merle Backlund of Grand Island's Riverside Golf Club.

John Frillman, pro at Omaha's Happy Hollow qualifying for the third straight year in local play, led the 26 competitors by birdieing the second extra hole of a playoff with Byron Comstock, a former touring pro now at the Mitchell Country Club in South Dakota.

Frillman and Comstock had tied with three-over-par 147s after 36 holes while Lincoln amateur Larry Romjue won the third spot with a 149 and Bridge, Williamson and Backlund had tied at 150.

Frillman and Comstock will go to Chicago for sectional play while Bridge and Romjue will play at Denver on June 2.

All three involved in the playoff for the final spot had several chances to win the fourth spot in regulation play.

Backlund led all golfers through the morning round with a two-under-par 70, but skied to an eight-over-par 80 in the afternoon to fall into the playoff.

While Backlund waited things out in the clubhouse, Bridge and Williamson, playing a threesome far back of the twosome-paired field, both had shots at forging ahead of the Grand Island pro, who was one of three qualifiers from Lincoln play a year ago.

Bridge, who had a three-over-par 75 in the morning, bogeyed Nos. 14-15-16 for another 75 in the afternoon and a 150.

Williamson, who carded a 79 in the morning, was two-under-par and about to grab the fourth spot outright with only two holes to play, but three-putted the 17th for a bogey, then missed a three-foot birdie putt at the 18th for a 71, forcing the three-way playoff.

Williamson had to scramble for a par on the second extra hole to stay alive, chipping over a trap with his third shot on the par-4 hole and sinking a six-footer for the par after Backlund and Bridge had already two-putted for pars.

On the third extra hole, a 321-yard, par-4, Backlund put his second shot five feet from the cup and Bridge followed by hitting his wedge shot into the cup from 85 yards out.

Game Juiced

Montreal (P) — Atlanta's rained out game at Montreal Monday will be rescheduled as part of a doubleheader in Montreal Aug. 5 or 6.

The game was the only one scheduled in the major leagues Monday.

Detroit To Offer Contract

Los Angeles (P) — Bill Van Breda Kolf quit Monday as coach of the Los Angeles Lakers, and the Detroit Pistons immediately announced they plan to offer him a contract to pilot their National Basketball Association club.

In two seasons with the Lakers, Van Breda Kolf's team reached the finals of the NBA playoffs and both times lost to Boston for the title.

With the acquisition of 7-foot-2 Wilt Chamberlain for the 1968-69 campaign, the Lakers were favored to go all the way, but fell one game short in the Boston series.

Van Breda Kolf and Chamberlain had differences during the season, winding up the regular campaign under an uneasy truce. In the final playoff game, Chamberlain suffered a wrenched knee but wanted to return to action for the last five minutes.

The coach kept the big star on the bench as a Laker rally fell short and Boston won 108-106. Los Angeles had trailed by seven when Chamberlain left the game.

"It is with regret that I leave the Lakers, but I believe my resignation is in the best interests of all concerned," said the coach, who met with owner Jack Kent Cooke and General Manager Fred Schaus to announce his decision.

"This was his own idea," Schaus declared. "It very definitely was not a forced resignation."

Van Breda Kolf, 47, had a year left on his original three-year pact. His club during the past year had posted a 55-27 record, winning the Western Division with the Lakers' best-ever win-loss mark.

A spokesman for Detroit General Manager Edwin Coil said Van Breda Kolf had been contacted by telephone about the Piston job and would meet with club officials in Detroit today or Wednesday.

Van Breda Kolf attended both Princeton and New York University and played three seasons of pro basketball with the New York Knickerbockers before going into coaching.

He started at Lafayette College, then went to Hofstra and from 1962-67 was at Princeton. During his five seasons there, his clubs had a 103-31 record. In 1965, the Tigers, with All-American Bill Bradley, reached the NCAA semifinals.

During his first year with the Lakers, the club finished second in the Western Division but then went to the playoff finals, losing to Boston four games to two. This year it was a 4-3 decision.

Schaus said the Lakers want to select a new coach as quickly as possible and pointed out the club has a rookie camp slated June 14-20.

Yanks To Salute Mantle On June 8

New York (P) — New York Yankees and their fans will salute retired Mickey Mantle between games of a Sunday doubleheader, June 8, at Yankee Stadium.

Mantle who retired this spring after 13 seasons with the club, also will become the fourth Yankee great to have his uniform number, 7, retired. The others were Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig and Joe DiMaggio.

Elwood Chances Best In 'D'

... HAYES CENTER TO BATTLE FOR REPEAT

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The chase for the Class D crown at the state track meet in Kearney this weekend appears to be a repeat of the battle staged between Hayes Center and Elwood at the Kearney State Invitational two weeks ago.

Whereas Hayes Center, the defending state Class D champ, won that first encounter with 20 points to spare, the Cardinals accomplished the feat with balanced team strength, capturing a lot of third and fourth place points.

Those competitors won't be on the scene this week as the tougher field, assembled from throughout the state, gathers for the state title showdown.

Hayes Center leads the small school division with eight qualifying spots, but all-around ace Ken Glee accounts for five of them.

Glee will represent Hayes Center in the discus, high jump, both hurdle events and as a member of the 880-yard relay team.

He doesn't figure to place in the high jump at state, did not win the high in his own district. Glee's best chance for a state title comes in the low hurdles and he should battle Republican City's Ryan Hawley for the discus title.

Elwood, though having, but six spots, could easily grab 18 points with three first place finishes. No one in the field seems able to seriously challenge the Nott brothers.

Raleigh is the defending two-mile champ and Bill has the best time in the mile. They both run on the mile relay team, which also has consistently posted the best Class D times in the state.

The pivotal event in Elwood's quest for the title might well be the mile run. Bill Nott will have to fight off the challenge of two qualified runners in Oconto's Leslie Spry and Joe Fichtner of Hayes Center.

Spry won the mile in last year's state meet, with Nott third, while Fichtner was second in the two mile. He made the mile field this time, qualifying second behind Nott in last week's district test.

The order of finish in that four-lapper, especially the placing of Fichtner for Hayes

Center, could go a long way toward deciding the championship.

Two other teams, Chambers and Republican City, have more entries than Elwood, with seven apiece, but the times and distances recorded by the Chambers qualifiers doesn't indicate they will be a title threat.

Republican City could get its biggest boost from Hawley, who has been the most consistent discus thrower the past several weeks. Here again, a Hawley success would hurt Glee and Hayes Center and serve as an additional aid to Elwood.

Citizens Bank Gets 1st Win

Citizens State Bank trimmed Dick Flynn's, 4-1, to win its first game in four starts this season in AAA softball action at Ballard Field Monday night.

John Laird was the winning pitcher as he tossed a four-hitter.

Roberts-Skyline edged Bud Burmood's, 4-3, in the other AAA contest as Stan Kaltenberger scored on an error in the bottom of the ninth to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Relief pitcher Paul Ude picked up the win for Roberts.

Wyson, Maxwell Casualties

By Associated Press

Touring pros Dudley Wyson and Billy Maxwell were the chief casualties Monday as 533 golfers at 50 sites won the right in local competition to go on to the sectional qualifying rounds for the U.S. Open Championship.

Most of the big names competed at Dallas after playing in the Colonial Invitation in Fort Worth over the weekend. Terry Dill led the pack there with a 67-71-138.

Others who earned the right to go on included Bobby Cole, George Knudson, Tommy Jacobs, Phil Rodgers, Howie Johnson, Tony Jacklin, Steve Oppermann, John Schlee, Jack Montgomery, Rives McBe, Don Massengale, Art Wall, John Lotz and Orville Moody.

Wyson, a familiar name on the pro tour, failed to qualify at Dallas while Maxwell did not compete saying he was too tired.

Rain limited play to one round at Camden, S.C., and Buffalo, N.Y. The Camden group will play another round Tuesday when 91 more golfers attempt to qualify at six sites for the sectionals.

Elsewhere, Deane Beman and Lee Elder qualified at Washington, Al Balding at Buffalo, Dave Ragan and Gordon Jones at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., and former Ryder Cupper Fred Hawkins at Chicago.

Brent Hartman of Lafayette, Ind., shot a hole-in-one that helped him tie for top honors at Indianapolis.

Reds Drop Tribe, 7-4, In Exhibition Contest

Cincinnati — Alex Johnson drove in four runs — including two with a fifth-inning single that put Cincinnati ahead to stay — as the Reds claimed a 7-4 exhibition game victory over Cleveland Monday night.

Gerry Arrigo pitched four scoreless innings of relief and picked up the victory. Starter Steve Hargan was tagged for six runs and six hits and took the loss.

Flyers Promote Coach To VP Job

Philadelphia — The Philadelphia Flyers promoted coach Keith Allen to vice president and a assistant general manager Monday and named Vic Stasiuk as head coach of the National Hockey League club.

The changes were part of a reorganization of the Flyers by president Bill Putnam.

Stasiuk, 39, has been in the Philadelphia organization for three years. In the last two years, he coached the Quebec Aces to the finals of the American Hockey League playoffs.

'Scrap Iron' Lasts Seven With Sonny

Las Vegas, Nev. —

Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston battered George "Scrap Iron" Johnson into submission Monday night but it took the one-time scourge of the fight game seven rounds to put the baby bull from Los Angeles away.

The 37-year-old Liston, weighing 217, hit the fighter 10 years his junior with so many punches no one could keep track of them.

But Johnson, who had lasted 10 rounds with Joe Frazier in 1967, was knocked down only once, that in the first round of the scheduled 10-rounder. He was still on his feet when referee Harry Krause stopped it after two minutes, 55 seconds of the seventh.

Chalking up his 13th straight ring victory in his current campaign since Cassius Clay knocked him out in one round in their second fight in 1965, Liston put Scrap Iron on the deck in the first round.

He speared Johnson with a long left and a right and, in a delayed reaction, Johnson reeled backward across the ring and came to rest on the seat of his pants.

Johnson took the mandatory eight count and from then on it was an evening of frustration for Liston, a man who could once devastate a rival with one punch from his huge fists.

Eddie Jones scored a ninth-round technical knockout over Roger Rouse, veteran Anacosta, Mont., battler, in a preliminary bout.

Royals Rained Out

Des Moines — The scheduled American Association baseball game between the Iowa Oaks and the Omaha Royals was postponed Monday due to wet grounds.

Wrecks Mar Qualifying For '500'

Indianapolis, Ind. — Two wrecks helped make Monday seem like a hangover after the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's last weekend.

The first two days of Indianapolis 500 qualifying, scheduled for last weekend, were rained out. Sunshine returned Monday, but the two accidents and lots of garage work on cars kept Monday's practice action relatively light.

Sammy Sessions of Nashville, Mich., hit the inside wall on the back straightaway in his car after a universal joint broke. He was hospitalized with a cracked kneecap but may be able to resume driving late this week. He finished ninth in last year's 500.

Roger West of Joliet, Ill., on the track for the first time Monday, killed his chances of passing his rookie driver's test when he scraped his car against the wall on the southwest turn. Observers said the 28-year-old driver went too high into the turn.

West was uninjured. His and Sessions' cars were damaged extensively.

The favorites for the pole position, Mario Andretti and A. J. Foyt, had the fastest laps, 168.824 m.p.h. and 167.723, respectively, but were well below their previous top speeds.

Andretti has the top lap of the month, 171.789 m.p.h.

Twenty-three other cars were on the track. Lee Roy Yarborough, Joe Leonard and rookie Peter Revson of New York City all pushed their cars to laps of 165 m.p.h.

Stuart Now Fielding, Counting Cash In Yen

... IN PART-TIME ANGEL JOB

New York (P) — Dick Stuart, the major leagues, first repatriate, isn't exactly thrilled with his present status, but he's as happy as 13 million yen can make a guy.

Stuart apparently changed in some ways during his two-year sojourn in Japan. Now he talks about his fielding instead of his hitting, and he counts his money in yen.

The big first baseman, now a part-time player with the California Angels, decided to try Japanese baseball after spending nine years in the majors with Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia, the New York Mets and Los Angeles.

"The first year over there was okay, but not the second," the 36-year-old Stuart said during the Angels' weekend trip to New York. "I couldn't adjust to their way of life. I got tired of living over there and wanted to come back."

"I contacted the Angels, and they offered me a job and a good salary."

DICK STUART

The salary has turned out better than the job. Stuart says he's making 13 million yen, which translates roughly to $35,000, not bad for a guy who batted only .217 in Japan last year.

As for the job — on which he's hitting .154 — he said, "I just do what I'm told. I'm happy to have a job. I play against lefthanded pitchers and pinch hit. That's a rough job."

Asked if he is satisfied with his status, Stuart, who always had disliked pinch hitting, said, "that's beside the point."

What is to the point, though, at least in Stuart's opinion, is his fielding. Never known for his fancy play at first, the man dubbed Dr. Strangelove said, with a straight face and apparent sincerity:

"My fielding is one of the few things I have left now, that I do well. I learned a lot about fielding in Japan. They're very defense conscious over there because they don't have many good hitters."

"When I used to be in the majors, I concentrated on my hitting. Now I get a heck of a kick out of making a good play at first."

Then the eyes on the straight face smiled just a bit, and he added:

"I have a fast glove and a slow bat."

And a lot of yen.

Williams Second In Triple Jump

Garden City, Kan. — McCook's Dave Williams leaped 48-5 1/4 for second place here Saturday and scored all his team's eight points in the National Junior College Track and Field Championships.

Fairbury and North Platte tallied only two points apiece. Galen Hurst was fifth in the 440-yard intermediate hurdles in :56.4 for the Bombers, while Bill Pile had a 205-4 javelin toss and a fifth for the Knights.

Seven records were set in the running events as Mesa, Ariz., won the team title with 89 points. Glendale, Ariz., had 57 and Blinn, Tex., 54.

Jay Oxtan Is Medalist In New Course Opener

Wellington Greens, a private, par three golf course, had its official opening Sunday with Jay Oxtan's 24 taking medalist honors.

Dorothy Schwartzkopf and Jean Hyland shared low honors for women at 30 and Mark Freeman was the low junior at 32.

Hutchinson's Indy 'Baby' Alive

... STOCK BLOCK PLYMOUTH MAKING '500' BID

Indianapolis, Ind. (P) — Pete Hutchinson's "baby" has arrived at the Indianapolis Speedway and to the surprise of most racing observers it is alive and kicking.

Hutchinson's baby is a stock block Plymouth racing car. It is the first passenger car engine of that make ever to storm the gates of the famed old brickyard.

"They said we couldn't do it," said Hutchinson, a 27-year-old engineer whose background includes schooling at Philip Exeter Academy, Milton Abbey School in England and Harvard College.

"When we got the car here the experts in gasoline alley said we'd compound the miracle if we got it on the track," he said Monday.

For the unbelievers, it can be said that Hutchinson's baby not only has bellowed down the straights of Indy but has turned speeds close to last year's minimum qualifying time. And Hutchinson says better things are in the offing.

The project to put the first Plymouth stock block engine into championship racing was turned over to Hutchinson for development and design in early March. It was to be a crash program — and money wasn't the object. The experts noted that it took Ford five years of development and at least $10 million to put the first engine of that make into the winner's circle at Indy.

"It was a case of trial and error," said the stockily-built Michigan native.

Hutchinson said he lived with his "baby" for 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for two months. His finished product, still looking very much like the showroom design, was mated to its chassis for the first time on May 8, long after most other Indy cars had arrived at the Speedway.

The chassis is a four-wheel-drive design built by Colin Chapman of England, whose Lotus the late Jim Clark drove to victory here in 1965. Chapman also designed the famed Lotus turbine cars of the 1967 and 1968 Indy races.

The Plymouth No. 20 was assigned to driver Art Pollard, a 41-year-old veteran who drove one of the ill-fated turbines last year. On Friday, the last full day of practice, Pollard was timed on several laps in the 150-160 mile an hour bracket.

"We got into the 162-163 bracket during brief practice periods Saturday and Sunday," Hutchinson said. "I think we can qualify the car."

Omaha Playoffs Rained Out Again; Meet Set Back

Lincoln High, already qualified for the state Class A baseball championships, will have to wait at least an extra day before starting action.

Three Omaha-area playoff games, to determine the other entrants, were rained out for the third time Monday. They have now been set for Tuesday, weather permitting, with the state meet to start Wednesday.

Kendall More Vicious As Title Fight Nears

Enfield, Conn. (P) — Andy Kendall, growing more vicious as fight time approaches, dropped sparring partner Joe Hopkins with a right hand to the body Monday as he continued preparations for Saturday's title fight with light heavyweight champion Bob Foster in West Springfield, Mass.

Kendall went another six rounds after knocking Hopkins all over the ring. He went a fast three heats with Eddie Owens.

Ervin Peterson Named Council Vice Chairman

The new Lincoln City Council Monday unanimously chose Councilman Ervin Peterson to serve as first vice chairman of the council.

Peterson, a holdover from the old council, which adjourned sine die Monday after taking action on pending matters, replaces Lloyd Hinkley as first vice chairman.

Council members also elected Bill Davidson second vice chairman.

The first vice chairman serves as acting mayor when the mayor is gone from the city and is in charge of council meetings when the mayor is not present.

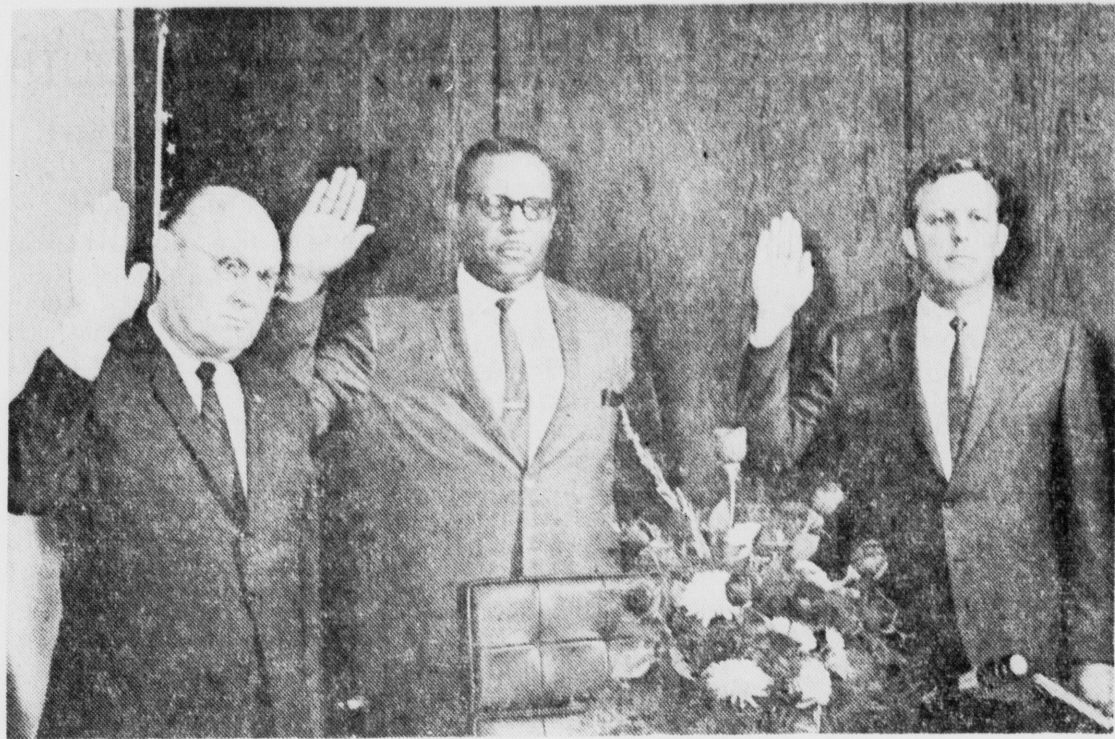

Three Take Oath

Prior to the organizational meeting of the new council, City Clerk Harold Clerk, administered the oath of office to the three new councilmen — Dick Hartsock, Harry (Pete) Peterson and Merle Hale.

The three new councilmen replace Hinkley, Carol Thompson, and John Comstock. All three decided not to seek re-election.

Retiring from the council after 11 years in office, Councilman Comstock gave a few pointers to the new councilmen before they took office.

"Never pre-judge anything," Comstock said. "Wait until you have heard all discussion on a subject and then make up your mind after applying your knowledge to the facts presented."

'Don't Worry'

The veteran council member, who has voted many times in the minority on municipal matters, also pointed out that there will often be criticism of the action taken by a council member. But he urged the new members not to worry about being in the minority or alone in a vote.

"Some of the criticism may be justified and some will not be. But always remember that you have more information (in making a decision) than the critics on a subject,"

Comstock said.

The retiring council members left the council with Davidson's suggestion that they "get on their minibikes and ride on."

Holsinger Won't Seek Funds For Signalization On West O

A recommendation not to appropriate funds during the 1969-70 fiscal year for signalization at the West O St. and Capitol Beach Blvd. intersection has been submitted to the Mayor and City Council.

Robert Holsinger, city traffic engineer, said in an interdepartment communication that he will not include the intersection for signalization in his budget request.

Holsinger said recent traffic surveys at the intersection have not produced data that would justify placing a signal there.

Not So Bad

He said a traffic survey by his traffic engineering office and an independent survey made by the Nebraska Department of Roads indicated the traffic situation was not as bad as some have portrayed it.

Signalization at the intersection has been a focal point of concern in West Lincoln.

"It is my opinion, that due to the lack of funds available for our signalization program, that the money must be spent at locations where more serious problems are now occurring, not where potential problems may arise," Holsinger said.

Less than 10%

Holsinger said the surveys revealed that less than 10% of the total vehicles crossing the intersection were entering from Capitol Beach Blvd. and that pedestrian crossings numbered less than five a day.

Robert Meyer, traffic engineer with the Nebraska Department of Roads, said in a letter concerning the state department's findings that he concurs with Holsinger.

Meyer said: "The total delay now experienced at this intersection by drivers approaching from the north is actually less now than it would likely be under signalized control."

"The average delay is now less than 20 seconds," the state official asserted.

Omahan Loses State Real Estate Broker's License

The State Real Estate Commission reported Monday it has revoked the real estate brokers license held by Casimir Joseph Mona of Omaha.

The commission said revocation was based on a finding that Mona failed to remit money coming into his possession, belonging to others, in connection with a contract for construction of a garage at an Omaha address. As a result, a hardware store which furnished materials obtained a mechanics lien against the property.

The Real Estate Commission reported also it has revoked the real estate salesman's license issued to Harry J. Long of Omaha. The revocation was based on Long's conviction in Washington County District Court on felony charges of unlawful sale of unregistered securities and unlawful sale of securities without a permit of license.

Council Backs Minibike Riding Area Decision

The Lincoln City Council Monday backed an earlier decision to allow minibike riding in designated areas of city parks, despite an attempt to have the ordinance reconsidered and killed.

Arguing against the minibike ordinance were Bill Dobler, representing the Park and Recreation Advisory Board, and council members Mrs. Helen Boosalis and Bill Davidson.

The majority of the council members, who supported the ordinance by defeating a motion to reconsider the action taken last week, pointed out that the ordinance is permissive legislation that says the areas "may" be designated.

Expressed Concern

Opponents had expressed concern about the city's liability should anyone be injured while riding in such an area.

Discussion by council members indicated that much remains for consideration before youngsters 12 to 16 may have an area to legally ride mini bikes.

City Attorney Norman

Krivoshia said if an area is provided, it would have to have careful supervision.

Lease Suggested

Councilman Lloyd Hinkley suggested that an area be leased to a group of parents whose children have mini bikes.

The parents could form a nonprofit association with which the city could contract and which could set up rules, provide necessary supervision and assume liability, Hinkley said.

Dobler said during a public hearing that he questioned whether a mini bike riding area would be an appropriate use of the parks.

"Minibike riding areas would detract from the appearance of the park," he contended.

Asked Reconsideration

The Park and Recreation Advisory Board last Thursday passed a resolution requesting the City Council to reconsider its action.

Councilman Davidson said "it would be inevitable to have some accidents and I would rather have them (youngsters with minibikes) mad at me for not allowing riding in the parks than to have one killed."

An ordinance was introduced during the session of the new City Council that would allow youngsters 12-14 to legally ride minibikes on private property.

Present city ordinances prohibit youngsters under 14 from riding such vehicles on private property.

Other action taken by either the old or the new council:

Solons May Delay Ed Board Involvement

By The Associated Press

Nebraska's Legislature is about to be offered a chance to postpone its involvement in affairs of the State Board of Education for another two years, in favor of a broad interim study, it was disclosed Monday night.

Sen. Willard Waldo of De Witt reported he plans introduction in the Legislature Tuesday of a resolution proposing a legislative council study between the 1969 and 1971 sessions.

The study would cover Nebraska school laws, operation of the State Department of Education and State Board of Education.

The board has received widespread attention of late by involving itself in plans for the possible ouster of Dr. Floyd Miller as state education commissioner.

Waldo suggested there are things "on both sides" that need correcting, and the legislature should not act hastily.

"Anytime you do something too quickly you make mistakes," he noted.

Pending in the Legislature's Education Committee is Grand Island Sen. Don Elrod's resolution which would censure certain members of the state board for actions allegedly resulting "in a serious erosion of progress in education in the state."

Pending on the floor of the Legislature is a bill proposing a constitutional amendment allowing the Legislature to decide whether members of the board of education, now elected, should be elected or appointed.

Waldo said he believes the Legislature will have to take a position on educational matters at its next session, and an interim study is important "so we can act wisely."

The proposed resolution, which Sens. Wayne Ziebarth of Wilcox and Lester Harsh of McCook have co-signed, notes that Nebraska school laws were last recodified in 1949.

In the past 20 years "many changes of major significance" have taken place in the field of education and in the structure of the State Education Department, it notes.

A Nebraska educational system which is "responsive to the needs of the people is essential to the progress and prosperity of the state," it adds.

Fed Cattle Prices Set New Highs

Omaha (AP) — Fed cattle prices continued on the upward trail at Omaha Monday as both the steer and heifer divisions set new seasonal peaks.

Demand was broad from order buyers and locals, partly because of continued moderate to light marketings here and through much of the midlands, as well as some improvement in quality of cattle in the upper quotation range.

Slaughter steers turned 25-50 cents higher, most sales a solid 25-cent advance in active bargaining. Heifers were fully 25 cents to instances 50 cents better.

The carcass beef trade, however, carried a note of caution, at least to some observers. Trade was slow at Chicago early Monday with very little sold prior to the noon hour. Values at Omaha Friday closed steady in a slow trade.

Some in the trade believe, however, that the market now has only a slight relationship with the carcasses beef trade. This is due, they said, to the live supply situation, which remains almost critically short. And, indications are that supplies, in relation to consumer demand for beef, will remain short well into the summer months. Beyond that, most marketmen fear to offer any predictions. As long as beef is moving into consumer channels, they maintain, the market will remain firm even though many slaughterers claim that their kill costs are exceeding carcass realizations.

The cow market was slow and under some buyer pressure. Prices shaped up weak at last week's late decline. Bulls sold steady.

Good demand sparked a limited offering of feeder cattle to a steady to 50-cent higher trade.

Steer top shot up to a 15-year high of 35.75 for a load of mainly prime 1,260 lb. weights. Heifers peaked at 33.50 for several shipments expected to prime 925-1,025 lb. offerings, this ticket best since November, 1952.

"Thanks for a lovely evening, and good night... or were you expecting to come in for a few minutes?"

"Grandma says not to worry about finding the diamond you lost 'cause she'll say a prayer to St. Anthony."

"On second thought, I won't go home to Mother. She's spring-cleaning!"

"I should think by now they'd come with automatic fender straighteners — they've got AUTOMATIC everything else!"

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:
The average person inhales 438 cubic feet of air in a 24 hour period.

Helium is produced by the radioactive decay of uranium and a few elements. Alpha particles given off by certain radioactive materials are merely helium nuclei.

The first U.S. census recorded 3,929,214 persons.

Construction of the Appian Way, oldest of Roman highways, was started in 312 B.C. by Appius Claudius, censor of Rome.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE
One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's. X for the two O's etc. Single letters, abbreviations, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right, then read the message. Check every one of your key numbers left to right, then read the message. Check every one of your key numbers left to right, then read the message. Check every one of your key numbers left to right, then read the message.
